Among the Democrats

[illegible] June 20—[Special.]—The general [illegible] here is that the Cleveland [illegible] received a very serious set back by the [illegible] New York state convention. The [illegible] while they have not given [illegible] securing the nomination are not [illegible] were before the meeting of the [illegible] general opinion is that the demo[illegible] have frittered away all of their [illegible] failure of New York to go to on a [illegible] the field as open as it was before [illegible] held and a feeling of uneasiness [illegible] among the friends of all the [illegible] democratic politicians in Wash[illegible] that Tammany has captured [illegible] New York and that John Kelly [illegible] factor in the next candidate [illegible] New York delegation will unite and [illegible] given renewed hope to the [illegible] they say that Kelly will support [illegible] in preference to Cleveland [illegible] picked up greatly within the past [illegible] open field gives him a chance to [illegible] and grave fears are expressed that he [illegible] the nomination. Bayard's friends [illegible] candidacy for all they are worth [illegible] a fair chance of success not [illegible] the talk about the Dover speech

[illegible] CHANCES CONSIDERED GOOD

[illegible] the set back received by Cleve[illegible] the impression seems to prevail [illegible] that the action of other [illegible] instructed for Cleveland and the [illegible] as well as the strong feeling [illegible] in favor of that gentleman among [illegible] uninstructed delegates from vari[illegible] New York to take him up as [illegible]

[illegible] speculation is indulged in as [illegible] second place on the ticket. The [illegible] that the nominee ought to be a soldier [illegible] Palmer of Illinois seems [illegible] for that position. Carlisle is not [illegible] or any other place on the [illegible] here realize that Carlisle has [illegible] to overcome in the way of se[illegible] than Randall who is favored [illegible] representatives of states [illegible] the success of the democratic [illegible] is opposed to the majority of [illegible] account of his opposition [illegible] bill.

THE SARATOGA CONVENTION

[illegible] June 20—[Special.]—The democrats [illegible] surprised with the result of [illegible] The champions of Cleve[illegible] because he was not presented as [illegible] party and his opponents are pro[illegible] friends seemed to be in a [illegible] The rank free traders [illegible] democracy failed to [illegible] question of the tariff in the [illegible] protectionists are dissatisfied be[illegible] was not boldly declared to [illegible] of the democratic party in the [illegible] however general satisfac[illegible] of the elections and Tam[illegible] in the democratic fold in [illegible] with a hope that the state can [illegible] November. A FRIEND OF FIELD

SAN FRANCISCO June 20—Charles Kohler who had been selected by the democratic state convention as electoral nominee has addressed a letter to Chairman English of the state central committee, wherein he writes: There are principles embodied in the platform adopted at the state convention which I do not approve and I most emphatically dissent from every expression condemnatory to Justice Field. If the committee are not satisfied with my attitude they are at liberty to substitute another name for mine as elector

AN ANTI CLEVELAND DELEGATE

ROCHESTER June 20—William Purcell editor of the Union and Advertiser had a great reception last night upon his return from the democratic state convention. He was known there as against Cleveland and was made elector at large. In a speech last night he said: The national delegates were not [illegible] and he felt sure no one had them in his pocket. Some man not now prominently named would probably secure the nomination at Chicago

A SLAP AT THE COAST

NEW YORK June 20—[Special]—Friday the Mail and Express has the following: The Brooklyn Herald reminds both parties that the support of the Pacific coast with its Loodlums and communists may be gained at too great a price. No desire to secure it says the Herald has led to some extravagant and shameless legislation. Political sentiment throughout the country has been outraged by the bids of both parties for these seventeen votes

NOMINATED BY PROHIBITIONISTS

CAMPAIGN DRIFT

The following lines were recalled by a [illegible] on after [illegible] for three months for [illegible] he read the last ballot from Chicago

I thought as one by one I saw
The dishes come and go
The he who dines on duck to-day
To-morrow may eat crow

Two thorns wield of Mr Blaine from the Vicksburg Miss Herald (Dem): The south has little cause to regret the nomination whether Blaine is elected or not. Blaine is not [illegible] against the south and he is under no obligation in the world to the thing called the southern republican party

Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper gives the Chicago nominations a very [illegible] friendly notice but closes with this sentence: The democracy have another great opportunity and the result of the next election will depend very largely upon the use they make of it

The Christian Union reviews the proceedings of the Chicago convention and comes to the conclusion that while Mr Blaine's forces were well organized and appear to have used without a sense of humiliation the names of many of those who conducted his campaign in the convention; they represent the worst elements in the party—men who have been repudiated again and again by the best republican sentiment and whose influence and position in the convention were an insult to the best moral sentiment of the party

Alluding to the remark of a congressman that "We massacre the dudes at Chicago and they can prevent all they want to but they cannot help themselves," the Philadelphia Telegraph (Blaine republican) says: "Again we say the independents or dudes hold the balance of power and unless they can be induced to support the ticket upon the ground that it is better to accept the lesser evil of the ticket than the greater one of democratic control of the government the ticket will be defeated"

The greatest mistake the friends of Mr Blaine are making is to suppose that the resentment against his nomination is confined to Boston dudes. There are many country papers in New England and large classes of the people who do not consider that the best interests are [illegible] politics is any too good for them or that there is an "better element" than that embracing themselves. But what a presidential campaign this is for the republican party with the religious press and the better element requested to get out and stay out.—Boston Transcript

The Freie Presse the afternoon German paper at Milwaukee Wis bolted the Blaine ticket on the day of the nomination. A sensation was created in political circles there a few days after by Der Herold, the most influential and widely circulated German newspaper in the west and northwest publishing a double leaded editorial that it will not support the Blaine and Logan ticket, and that in the event of the democratic national convention nominating Cleveland or Bayard upon a sound platform it will support such a ticket without prejudice to its return to its allegiance to the republican party in future campaigns

Morganatic Marriages

To judge by the comments in the newspapers on the marriage of the grand duke of Hesse Darmstadt says the London Truth it seems to be supposed here that a morganatic marriage is a sort of Esgaray ransom at. This is a mistake. In Germany society is divided into castes. If a man of one caste marries a woman of an inferior caste the marriage which is perfectly valid is termed morganatic. This means that his wife and the wife's children do not rise to the caste of the man. She is the wife and the children [illegible] inferior caste to the husband. The marriage is a [illegible] For instance the marriage of the duke of Hamilton with a princess of Baden was morganatic and the marriage of Princess Louise with Lord Lorne would but other party in Germany have been a morganatic one. Prince Teck and Prince Louis of Battenberg are the issue of morganatic marriages

The Only Survivor

Cor New York Tribune

It seems to have been almost forgotten that Sir Henry Loch who has just been appointed governor of the colony of Victoria, is one of the survivors of the band of victims seized by the Chinese and horribly tortured. They were chained to planks and partly suspended, so that the chains cut into the naked flesh. These wounds were attended with the most horrible consequences for no sooner were they formed than the unhappy sufferers were literally eaten up by vermin actually devoured limb by limb. It will be recollected that Mr Bowlby the [illegible] [illegible] several others died under this horrible treatment. Sir Henry Loch was fortunately enough to survive this hideous imprisonment

DOMESTIC DISPATCHES.

Failure of the New York Millionaire, Commodore Garrison

STOCKS SUFFER ANOTHER HEAVY DECLINE

A Question of Doubtful Identity—Eastern Wool Markets—News Items from Various Places—Notes

NEW YORK June 20—Cornelius K Garrison to-day filed an assignment in the county clerk's office to J [illegible] Terry. Preferences $131,000. The details of the assignment provides for the payment of a certain sum to Lattilia W Garrison and submits his lawyers also to pay George [illegible] Forrest indebtedness for management of affairs. The remainder is due on notes secured by stocks and bonds

Melville C Day counsel for Garrison says: The assignment is not made on account of financial embarrassment. It was forced upon Garrison by the protest of notes under his endorsement yesterday. He is a heavy holder of securities and much of his wealth is tied up in these which are almost unmarketable at present that he could not meet his liabilities. The assignment is simply for the benefit of his creditors

THE AMOUNT INVOLVED

The amount involved by the failure of Garrison is supposed to be nearly $3,000,000. Preferences amount to $631,000. Assignee Terry said it was impossible yet to state figures. The effect on Wall street was insignificant so great an extent as was feared. It was said Garrison was very largely interested in railroad stocks. He [illegible] by dealing for rise stocks and [illegible] specialties. Stocks fell off 1 to 3 per cent but no failures are reported

A prominent banker said: The effect of the failure coming as it does now will naturally unsettle things and in fact stocks cannot go any lower without hitting somebody. I think the failure is [illegible] for a good thing, there will be among many different people men like Vanderbilt and Garrison down [illegible] for five millions but they are [illegible] and went millions. This is wrong and the distribution of such large amounts will benefit the people

GARRISON'S HISTORY

Commodore C K Garrison who made an assignment to-day is well known as being or nearly [illegible] interested in the Pacific Mail and New Orleans and West India steamship lines and as a large stock holder in profitable gas companies of this city, St Louis, New Orleans and other large cities. He was principal owner in the Missouri Pacific railroad, but sold out a few years ago to Jay Gould. He has been interested lately in numerous railway schemes. He was formerly a resident of St Louis and made the bulk of his fortune prior to the rebellion

FROM THE TELEGRAM

[Special]—The Telegram says of Garrison's failure: I was at the commodore's office that he was ill and had been partially prostrated by heat but was able to get in a carriage to his office. He was met by his lawyer with whom he had a conversation, resulting in the assignment. Steps were taken by the commodore for protecting his own interests and settling up his business affairs. Another statement was to the effect that the assignment was made on account of certain unfavorable developments in the famous Marie-Garrison law suit. The market felt the shock of the failure to its center as it came upon stocks already weak and under control of the bears

EFFECT ON THE STOCK MARKET

The failure of Garrison had not much effect upon stock exchange dealings as he was not largely interested in the stock market. Of course there was some slight flurry upon the first announcement of his assignment, but no failures followed nor are any anticipated in consequence thereof. The decline in stocks cannot be said to be entirely due to the embarrassment of Garrison for there were sales of Rock Island supposed to come from Vanderbilt which weakened the entire list. There was no panic and no signs thereof

The Stock Market

NEW YORK June 20—Governments weak and lower. Shares to-day have been heavy and lower with breaks in the Vanderbilts, Northwestern, Lackawanna and Rock Island. Various rumors about the assignment of Commodore Garrison were made the basis of a general raid on the market and the absence of full support caused prices to decline rapidly. Commodore Garrison has no speculative interest in the street and his assignment is not regarded as having any relation to the stock market. Speculation was weak throughout and some shares sold at lowest figures in years and prices broke 1 to 5 per cent. At the close there was a rally of [illegible] to [illegible] in some shares and the market closed weak. Compared with last night closing prices are 1 to 4 lower

A Question of Doubtful Identity

NEW YORK June 20—[Special]—Mrs Isabella Curran engaged rooms in Brooklyn a few days ago. She was accompanied by a son 14 years old who was sent to school but [illegible] last while out shopping she met Thomas Carragher about her own age, proprietor of a dry goods store at 228 North Fifth street, which is almost opposite to her apartments. When the lady came face to face with the merchant she threw up her hands and exclaimed: "Patrick my husband, to think that I should find you after all these years"

Mr Carragher was very much surprised at having a woman address him in the street as her husband when another woman stepped up to his wife's place in his house and he at once turned on his heel and walked away

Finding her advances repelled Mrs Curran hastened to her home and informed her son that she had met his father who had deserted them in California seven years ago

A warrant was issued for the dry goods dealer's arrest and he was brought before the woman and her son

"That's my father" spoke up the 14 year old boy who stood inside the railing

"Do you mean to say you know me?" asked Carragher as he scowled savagely at the lad

"Yes I do you are my father and you know it as well as I do. I was born there in San Francisco and they know you too. You ran away from us there when I was [illegible] years old. Uncle who keeps the [illegible] hotel in San Francisco will remember you I think"

The man positively denied the boy's story to Judge Naehor who presided and said he could prove that he never lived in the west and the boy's story was so straightforward and told with so much honesty that Carragher was sent to jail to await examination

THE SEEDY LOOKING TRAMP

How a Dead Beat was Beat by the Lady of the House

Texas Siftings

"You have got some nice wood over there in your yard" said a seedy looking tramp to an Austin advanced lady

"Yes" said the lady of the house

"I would like to carry it in for you" said he

"My husband will carry it in" she replied

"Well" said the tramp "I will carry it in and [illegible] it nice if you will give me my breakfast"

At this offer the lady consented and the tramp went to work

After he had carried in a few armfuls the lady stepped to the door and found him sitting on the pile with his claws on his knees and his face buried in his hands

"What is the matter?" said she

"Oh lady" said he looking up "I am so weak for I have had nothing to eat since day before yesterday" and again he covered his face with his hands. This seemed to rouse the lady's sympathy and she went in and soon returned with an excellent breakfast. After he had swept everything from the board he arose and said: "Thank you my good lady for this sumptuous repast. Now let me give you this advice. Never again let your sympathy get away with your discretion. I'm off. Ta ta" and he walked majestically out the front gate. The tramp had gone but a short distance when he became deadly sick. He seated himself on a curb stone and a few moments later having two or three violent spasmodic contractions of the stomach he lost his breakfast. Indeed his stomach would have followed suit had it not been thoroughly dovetailed to his diaphragm. He believed that he was poisoned and he became very much alarmed. As soon as he regained his faculties enough to get up he retraced his steps and found the lady stand in the front door

"Madam" he said in piteous tones "my breakfast did not stay on my stomach. I believe I am poisoned"

"That is not to be wondered at" said she. "I suspected your little game having been caught once before in the same way so I prepared myself for it by dosing your coffee with tartar emetic. Now let me give you a little advice. Never again let your rascality get away with your breakfast. To beat a dead beat beat anything. Ta ta" and she shut the door in his face. The tramp started sorrowfully down the street wondering no doubt where and how he could get a breakfast that would stay with him

The Exiles of Siberia

From Chief Engineer Melville's Book

The huts the exiles lived in was it appears a mile [illegible] after the manner of a Yakutsk [illegible] of rough timber plastered with mud and [illegible] in the summer adjoining the dinner apartments a kind of weather porch and a kitchen which contained [illegible] fireplace and cooking apparatus. In the first apartment there lived they kept their books, bedding and clothes. Russian illustrated papers were pasted on the walls but the ceiling was so low that the room presented a dark and dismal appearance and candles were burning there at midday. The government was such as to give a monthly stipend of twenty five rubles paper or about $12 50 and an extra [illegible] month. Out of this they must feed themselves and house themselves, the dress providing for [illegible] and service. This is almost absolute dearth [illegible] for in Siberia the price of forty pounds of Russian rye flour is worth a ruble a pound. Though venison, beef, horse flesh and fuel are cheap [illegible] other necessaries of life are extravagantly dear. Some of the exiles had rich relatives who sent them money but not more than 300 rubles could be sent at any one time and the mail service is so irregular that sometimes there is only one delivery in six months and only at odd intervals during the winter when some government official has occasion to go over the road. No exile may send or receive any sealed package. Everything of that nature must be opened and read or examined by the Cossack commandant or the chief of police

Sam Randall

Providence Journal

If the ruins of the venerable Tilden can be cleared away the ex speaker will be a prominent candidate before the Chicago convention No 2. He has for years represented a Philadelphia district and no matter what administration has been in power his friends have been well provided for there. He has a fine family of children and when he came to congress he bought a modest house on Capitol Hill which he has lately his residence although he has passed his recesses at Philadelphia or Cape May. When he first came here he was a typical Quaker City fireman with his close cropped head keen eyes and ready speech. Of course he used to take something with the boys and at last he would repeat it often but in the Forty third congress when he was by common consent given the head of the minority he astonished his friends and enemies by appearing as a practical teetotaler. During the thirty days and nights struggle on the Force bill Randall remained at his desk. His food was brought to him there and also a black teapot, which was kept replenished with the beverage which cheers but not inebriates. When the gavel fell at the close of the session Randall marched out doubly triumphant. He had fought and won his party fight, and he had won a victory over his own appetite. His bold stand against his own party a few years since on the tariff question has not injured him except with a few rabid free traders and he would make a strong candidate

UTAH

Mormon Opinion of the Utah Bill

SALT LAKE June 20—The Mormon press and prominent Mormons consider the Hoar bill just passed by the senate as a cruel measure harsh unjust tyrannical and in some respects revolutionary and unconstitutional and designed to restrict the liberties of persecution. Many of its provisions they think will not stand the test of judicial examination and are evidently framed with a design to destroy the Mormon religion. They assert that circumstances here do not call for any such enactment and that the existing public opinion, which prompted the senatorial vote for this measure has been created by the persistent circulation of false reports concerning affairs here. Upon the surface there is no excitement here but it is evident the Mormons are nerving themselves up for a repetition of what they all [illegible] persecutions and are fortifying themselves in a belief that God will render nugatory all efforts to destroy their religion and they are prepared to meet all consequences

A young girl was acting in the same theater with her and was observed. Much of the work done by us involves the looking up of the habits of clerks in banks and business houses and the employes of express companies who have the handling of large sums of money. It is the rule of some establishments or companies to have the habits of their employes examined yearly. If a man is found to be spending more money than he earns or is becoming reckless in his expenses, he is warned by his employer and if he still persists in his course is dropped from his position. When important business interests are at stake merchants or bankers cannot afford to have in their offices men who have the least bit of irregularity attached to their habits of living.

A NEW MOVEMENT PROPOSED

LONDON June 20—A Paris correspondent of the Times says: Stephens the ex fenian head center has forwarded to the active members of the brotherhood at Chicago a manuscript circular summoning an early meeting at Chicago of prominent Irish Americans who are willing to join a new movement in favor of military organization on the line proposed by the late John O. Mahoney. Stephens declares that the services of several distinguished European officers have already been placed at his disposal. He is sanguine that he can secure others. No definite plan of action will be proposed until the convention of the Irish patriots which is proposed soon to be held in Paris. To this convention the Chicago conference is invited to elect delegates. After the convention an address will be issued to the Irish at home and abroad expounding the purpose of the new movement. Among the plans of operations mooted is a scheme to dispatch balloons manned with desperadoes over England, and to drop explosives upon towns and the below. BLAINE AND GARFIELD

Blaine's Letter Accepting the Position of Secretary of State.

When Garfield began the formation of his cabinet the first name chosen was that of James G. Blaine whom he selected for the leading position that of secretary of state. The manner in which he conveyed the invitation to Mr Blaine and urged its acceptance touched the latter as deeply as did the honor and confidence shown in the selection itself. The reply accepting the position was equally honorable to both. We give it in full as it found its way to the public mouths afterward. It will be read at this time with great interest

WASHINGTON, December [illegible] 1880—My Dear Garfield: Your generous invitation to enter your cabinet as secretary of state has been under consideration for more than three weeks. Though it has really never occurred to my mind until at our late conference you presented it with such cogent arguments in its favor and with such warmth of personal friendship in aid of the kind offer

I know an early answer is desired and I have waited only long enough to consider the subject in all its bearings and to make up my mind definitely and conclusively. I now say to you in the same cordial spirit in which you have invited me that I accept the position. It is no affectation for me to add that I make this decision not for the honor of the promotion it gives me in the public service but because I think I can be useful to the country and the party; useful to you as the responsible leader of the party and the great head of the government

I am influenced somewhat perhaps by the shower of letters I have received urging me to accept, written me in consequence of the unauthorized newspaper report that you had been pleased to offer me the place. While I have received these letters from all sections of the Union I have been especially pleased and even surprised at the cordial and widely extended feeling in my favor throughout New England where I had expected to encounter a local jealousy and perhaps rival aspirations

In our new relations I shall give all that I am and all that I can hope to be freely and joyfully to your service. You need no pledge of my loyalty in heart and in act. I should be false to myself did I not prove true both to the great trust you confide to me and to your own personal and political fortunes in the present and future. Your administration must be made eminently successful and strong in the confidence and pride of the people, not at all directing its energies for re-election and compelling that result by the logic of events and by the imperious necessities of the situation to the most desirable consummation. I feel that next to yourself I can possibly contribute as much to that end as any other. I say this not from egotism nor vainglory but merely as a deduction from the plain analysis of political forces which have been at work in the country for five years past and which have been significantly shown in two great national conventions. I accept it as one of the happiest circumstances connected with this affair that in allying my political fortunes with yours or rather for the time merging mine in yours my heart goes with my head and that I carry to you not only political support but personal and devoted friendship

I can but regard it as somewhat remarkable that we were born in the same age, entering congress at the same time, influenced by the same aims and cherishing the same ambitions should never for a single moment in eighteen years of close intimacy have had a misunderstanding or coolness, and that our friendship has steadily grown with our growth and strengthened with our strength. It is this fact which has led me to the conclusion embodied in this letter. For however much, my dear Garfield, I might admire you as a statesman I would not enter your cabinet if I did not believe in you as a man and love you as a friend. Always faithfully yours

JAMES G BLAINE.

The tragic fate of his friend and chief had a marked effect upon Mr Blaine. With Garfield's death he laid down the cares of office and could not be prevailed upon to retain or resume them. His last official act in connection with his dead friend was to pronounce the memorial address before the United States senate. The address was one of the finest tributes ever paid to a departed American statesman. It was evidently from the heart and those who heard it and watched the speaker went away feeling they had not been listening to a mere perfunctory tribute of a senator to a fellow senator, but of a cabinet officer to his chief but a man of strong affections to one he not only highly honored for his personal abilities and public career, but also deeply loved as a dear friend

The Artist's Surprise.

New York Courier-Journal

I was brought to a realization that the charm of distance is the first thing to be considered in obtaining a satisfactory view of one of these works, by an experience at the academy the other day

I was standing before a bit of rough paper with some blue and green and yellow streaks on it, which was down in the catalogue as "the Surprise." It was by a good artist and I was anxious to make something out of it but failed entirely to grasp an idea, until I was accidentally forced backward by the crowd about ten feet. From this position it was plainly some wild ducks started out of a marsh. Their flight was full of action and the picture was excellent as seen from the proper distance, and I wondered if the artist had not indulged in a little quiet humor in his selection of a name.

It affords me pleasure to assure you that after using Dr C. McLane's Celebrated Liver Pills for more than twenty years in my family, that I regard them as being superior to any I have ever used or have seen used. I have not had them constantly and had to try others, and I have tried a good variety, but I have never had any to act so promptly, profitably and nicely as McLane's. I have used them on myself, wife and children, with the most gratifying results.

For children, having used them on my own with such easy and happy effect, I would recommend them to one and all. These pills do the work—do it promptly, do it well, and leave no ill effects behind.

As a bile remover, as a liver corrector, as a forerunner preparing the system for quinine, there is no pill or medicine equal to Dr C. McLane's Celebrated Liver Pills. I expect to use them as long as I live, if they continue as good as they have been in the past.

Yours truly

The best evidence in the world of the purity and excellence of Blackwell's Bull Durham Smoking Tobacco is found in the fact that the fame of this tobacco increases from year to year. This could not be the case if it were merely "gotten up to sell," or had any dubious or dangerous ingredients in it. Among millions of users of all nationalities, surely some one would find out if it were impure, injurious or unpalatable. For 15 years this tobacco has been acknowledged to be the best in the world, and every year the Bull Durham brand grows more popular, the demand for it wider and smokers more enthusiastic over its delicious natural flavor. Ask your dealer for it. Get the genuine—trade-mark of the Bull.

"Benson's Capcine Porous Plasters cured me of a dull, weary ache in the small of my back."—J. L. [illegible]

The Daily Oregonian.

SATURDAY MORNING, JUNE 21, 1884.

THE OUTLOOK.

Some hint of what the campaign will be may be found in what is printed in the dispatches from day to day, and particularly in those accounts yesterday morning of the Blaine and Logan receptions in Maine and the ratification demonstration in Washington.

The best and most noted speakers of the party will be found early in the field. Probably the best two speeches made thus far are those of Gen. Logan at Bangor on Thursday and Senator John Sherman at Washington on the same day. Logan emphasized the unanimity of the voice of the people in nominating Blaine at Chicago, and argued from this that in a country where the people rule, the people will elect; and when we think how much of an enthusiastic "people's campaign" the one before us will be, we can see the force of Logan's remark when he said that "if there are those who claim to belong with us who are unwilling to go along with us now, they will be found standing on the wayside after the procession has passed by." There is enough in this little sentence to bear in mind while the procession is moving along, at any rate.

It is, doubtless, the plan of the republicans to organize early and start the campaign as soon as possible, though nothing will be positively settled in regard to the matter until the meeting of Blaine and Logan with the national committee at New York on the 26th. Senator Sherman gave a keynote that will be caught up all along the line, when he said that he would support the nominees "even if they were less worthy than I know them to be for the distinguished honor proposed for them. I would do it for my own honor. I have no patience with any man who, for himself or any other person, would take his chances for success in a political convention, and when disappointed would seek to thwart the action of the convention." There are some who have heretofore been republicans who are not in accord with Senator Sherman in this sentiment, but where there is one such there are thousands who think precisely as he does. The American people believe in fair play, and have no patience, any more than Sherman has, with men who go over to the enemy after helping to make up all the plans. There will probably be less occasion to speak of the bolters as the campaign progresses; but, just now, it is the popular thing for these speakers of national reputation not to leave them out of their remarks, and, so far, they have discussed them in a way to put them in the light of having done that which is not countenanced among the square dealers in American politics. There is no doubt but that this is the popular handling of the question and it will be the principal thing talked of until we have Blaine's letter of acceptance and see the campaign well opened with the democratic candidate also in the field.

There is something besides harmony to be seen in the Saratoga convention, which was intended to be the first step toward putting Cleveland in the field as this democratic candidate for whose name we are waiting. That very formidable individual in New York politics, Mr. John Kelly is by no means going off into a profound slumber, lulled by the "harmony" of the Saratoga convention. He in effect told the democratic party of New York that unless Tammany hall could secure better treatment at the hands of the democratic state convention than had lately been awarded to them, they would regard it as equivalent to due notice from the democratic party of New York that Tammany hall was something else than a democratic organization. "Either we are democrats or we are not," said Kelly, "and in either case we propose to see that unless two better democrats than Blaine and Logan are nominated by the democrats at Chicago in July, Blaine and Logan shall be elected." Kelly can put his own interpretation upon the treatment he received after the nomination, as Mr. Curtis has and if Cleveland shall be nominated it is pretty certain that he will open a schism that will make the New York independents look infinitely insignificant by comparison. And added to this possible Kelly trouble, which may be regarded as probable, judging from the conduct of Kelly in the past, the opposing party has other things to consider, which the New York Sun, regardless of anybody's feelings, makes public mention. It denies that the bolting republicans of 1882 are the bolting republicans of 1884, and says:

> Exactly the opposite is the case. The Republicans who helped to defeat Mr. Folger and to swell Mr. Cleveland's majority to enormous size were Garfield republicans, sometimes called half-breeds, and these are the voters who are now most enthusiastic for Blaine. The Hon. Ellis H. Roberts of Utica is a type of this class of republican voters. They cannot be counted as against Blaine because they were against Folger. They are for Blaine for the very reasons that put them in opposition to Folger.
> Starting from the fixed fact of Governor Cleveland's great majority two years ago, it is not quite so easy to work out a satisfactory result in New York state for next November as some of our friends seem to imagine.

One or two despondent republicans in our own immediate vicinity seem to lose sight of the fact that as between the two parties in the next contest, the republican is the one that is reasonably sure to attract most votes from the other. It has the most to offer that the average voter can see real benefit in and catch some political hope from. This average voter wants a man of whom it can be said as Senator Harrison said of Blaine in the Washington demonstration:

> Bring forward the best and ablest man of the nation, assemble the great men not only in our land but in others; let the summons go out to the nations of Europe; let Bismarck and Gladstone be in the company, and we will not fear to have their measure apply to our candidate. Blaine will stand among them as a representative of whom the American people need not feel ashamed. He has stood in the house of representatives when its rolls bore the names of our most representative men, and no man counted Blaine to be inferior to the best. In the senate no man counted him an unworthy opponent.

This is the kind of candidate the people want nor all the logic, nor all the sophistry employed by the democrats and independents can persuade them that, as president, Blaine will not be greater and better than he has been in any of the places he has filled on his unfaltering journey toward the White House.

The outlook was good on the day of the nomination, and it has been getting better ever since.

The Buffalo Express, which bolted Judge Folger's nomination in 1882, is awaiting the action of the democratic convention before taking any definite position with regard to the republican nominations. It says: "It is a question for deliberation, and not for impulse and we shall consider it coolly after all the materials for the formation of a wise judgment are before us, and not in the heat of a disappointment which we confess has left us sore and despondent. We shall wait to see what the democrats, whose facility at blundering is phenomenal, are likely to achieve to bring about a partial relief of the situation."

The charges against Mr. Blaine date back more than eight years. They spent their force in 1876. The people never took stock in them. Two legislatures of Maine elected him to the United States senate since then, once to fill the unexpired term of Senator Morrill, once to be his own successor. Not a single republican opposed him on that or any other account. In 1881 the senate of the United States, democrats as well as republicans, joined in confirming his nomination for the highest office in the joint gift of the president and the senate.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat heartily favors Sena or Hill's postal telegraph bill. It believes that the government has the right to establish a telegraph system, and that one will be established sooner or later.

Mr. Hale and Mr. Frye, who twice tried and failed to nominate Mr. Blaine, made a mistake in remaining away from Chicago this year—so the Maine republicans say.

SUPPORTING MR. BLAINE.

One of our state exchanges says: "What is THE OREGONIAN trying to do anyhow? One would be led to believe by reading its editorials that that journal was supporting Mr. Blaine. But turn your attention to its miscellaneous political clippings and telegraphic dispatches and you find scarcely anything but jibes and flings at him. This blowing hot and cold at the same breath won't 'pan out.' If THE OREGONIAN does not wish to support Mr. Blaine, let it come out fairly and squarely and say so; people will then know how to take it."

It would naturally be supposed that no one would undertake to edit or publish a newspaper without having some faint conception of what a newspaper is. But unfortunately some do. It is unfortunate for the public and usually a pecuniary loss to themselves. A newspaper is not intended for the suppression of news, but for its publication. It is not a newspaper when it suppresses even one half of the news, as the exchange from which we have copied seems to demand that we should do. Newspapers exist to gather and print the news and to give only such interpretation of it as will enable people to understand it more readily or clearly. Any departure from this impairs the purpose of the paper and discredits it as a business enterprise. It is a well recognized principle of morals which is at the same time a law of journalism—that what exists for one purpose but pretends to exist for another is a sham and a cheat; and an organized sham does not deserve success, and never attains that eminent degree of success which is gained by organization filled with vigorous and earnest honesty of purpose.

The OREGONIAN is a newspaper, and therefore, although it supports Mr. Blaine it does not intend to pervert the news and suppress what is unfavorable to his election. If it did it would be a partial and inefficient organ of intelligence and the people who want to read the history of the time would be compelled to take other papers. It is to the credit of the people of this country that they like such a paper—that they do not want the news filtered for them, by the associated press, not by the editor of the paper which they take. They are grown up and they do not want to be fed with a spoon. Such criticisms as the one we have copied originate only in immature or partially developed minds. Fully developed and mature minds can trust themselves and trust others to masticate the news for themselves. They do not want any mother, whether it be the mother church or the mother campaign committee to prepare their intelligence for them. Fisher Ames said, "the people always mean right, and if time is allowed for reflection and information they will do right." A man who distrusts the people is not a true republican. Even Gladstone in England is placing more and more responsibility upon the people, enlarging their relations with the government and inviting their support by trusting them. THE OREGONIAN shows its respect for the people by giving them the news of the day—the accumulated evidence of the state of facts, or the condition of men and society in the world at large, and leaving them to decide upon this evidence with respect to all the concerns of their life, and to venture or refrain from venturing upon their great or little projects. There is no reason why it should depart from this honorable course during a campaign. The people want to hear all the evidence, and they do not want to be deceived by the suppression of a part of it, even through the editor, or some of his campaign advisers may imagine that a good purpose may be served by its concealment.

And in this respect THE OREGONIAN does not differ from other large newspapers, some of which are more strictly partisan. The Chicago Inter-Ocean, for example, is a newspaper which vaunts itself on being a straight party paper, and is so narrow and stupid that it calls George William Curtis, and the men who sympathize with him in respect to the nominations, "the dudes," and yet it publishes the news of the disaffection in the party which comes by telegraph, and, in addition to this, it copies about a column of extracts daily from its exchanges to show the drift of the campaign. In other words, it aims to do a newspaper business like THE OREGONIAN, and other reliable organs of the party are daily doing the same thing. And there is no "blowing hot and cold at the same breath" in this course. There is nothing in it inconsistent with the support of Mr. Blaine. For the editor does not endorse or agree with all that is published in his paper. He puts into his paper miscellaneous political clippings and telegraphic dispatches merely as news, not as expressions of his own opinion, and in the same way he admits communications which are directly opposed to his opinions. It is an extremely narrow platform for an editor to stand upon, that he must approve of everything that transpires in the world, or keep the intelligence of it from his readers. Cannot an editor publish the report of a murder without approving the act? Must he omit the story of shipwrecks and cyclones and earthquakes, or subject himself to the charge of delighting in the destruction of his fellow men? The mere statement of what this theory leads to shows how untenable it is. Those who wish to know what THE OREGONIAN thinks must look to its editorial utterances. It will try to make that matter plain, and at the same time continue to let its readers know what other people think and what they are doing.

GOOD MOVE IN A CLOSE STATE.

One of the closest of the close states is placed in the best possible condition for the republicans by the nomination of Wm. H. Calkins for governor. He now represents the thirteenth Indiana district in congress, and is serving his fourth term. During the forty-seventh congress he was chairman of the committee on elections, and made himself popular by the fairness of his arguments in the many cases presented to the house by him on behalf of his committee. He is a great favorite on the floor of the house, where he has the attention of members and gallery whenever he speaks. He is a large, handsome man, with a strong, pleasing voice, and has the Blaine faculty of making every one he meets his personal friend forever. He was a brave soldier in an Indiana cavalry regiment, and has always been the special champion of liberal appropriations for both West Point and Annapolis. The young men all swear by Calkins in Washington and in Indiana, his course having endeared him to them. He went from the legislature of his own state to congress, and is personally known to voters from lake Michigan to the Ohio river. He was not a dark horse, but the one man of all those available who has been most desired and talked of for a year past, and he starts with the compliment of a nomination on the first ballot. The democrats will probably play their best card by nominating ex-Governor Hendricks to run against him, but Hendricks is too old and has made too many enemies to be a match for Calkins. If the republicans go through the campaign, doing the right thing at every juncture as promptly as they have done the right thing in nominating Calkins in the close state of Indiana, they will have a comparatively easy victory. Indiana is really the most evenly divided between the parties of all the states in the union.

The state of New York has a new law in relation to the rights and liabilities of married women. It provides that a married woman may contract to the same extent, with like effect in the same form as if unmarried, and she and her separate estate shall be liable thereon, whether such contract relates to her separate business or estate, or otherwise, and in no case shall a charge upon her separate estate be necessary.

The New York World is fixing up democratic tickets that will be "invulnerable to either the free trade or rebel cry," and in doing so it is compelled to leave off both Bayard and Carlisle. It pairs men as oddly as the Georgia cornecracker makes up his team of a bull and a jackass yoked together. For instance: McDonald and Randall, Hewitt and Payne, McDonald and George William Curtis. With its fear of the "free trade cry" and "the rebel cry," it is likely to do something quite ridiculous.

The man Thomas Stephens, who is traveling from San Francisco to Constantinople on a bicycle, ought to be stopped at New York and nominated by the independents for the presidency. He will be so accustomed to a lonely race by the time he reaches there that they could nominate him and start him right back. They might put the bicycle on the ticket for vice president, and in that way make a consistent and faultless campaign that would reach all the way across the country.

The democrats of Tennessee ranged themselves upon a platform and "pledged themselves cheerfully" to the national convention. The Cuban who was hanged at Key West the other day got upon a platform and pledged himself cheerfully to the [illegible] over a bottle of wine. Then he fell through the platform. It had a plank in it like the democratic tariff plank—it could be made to look like a smooth surface or like a hole.

ENDORSED BY HIS PASTOR.

Statement by Rev. Dr. Ecob Concerning Mr. Blaine's Character as a Man.

ALBANY June 1:—Rev. Dr. James H Ecob, of the Second Presbyterian church in New York city, makes the following estimate of James G. Blaine, which ought to discount ten times over what is said by Henry Ward Beecher and other clergymen who do not know him personally:

"I have known Mr. Blaine since 1872. During ten years of that time I was pastor of the church in Augusta of which Mr. and Mrs. Blaine are members. The satisfaction I take in his nomination is based upon such knowledge of him as only a pastor can gain. I believe that I am too true a republican, and I know that my conception of citizenship is too high to permit me to ratify the exaltation of any man whose character has not the true ring. I have been very near to Mr. Blaine, not only in the most trying political crises, but in the sharper trial of great grief in the household, and have never yet detected a false note. I would not be understood as avowing too much for human nature. I mean that as I have known him he has stood loyally by his convictions; that his word has always had back of it a clear purpose, and that purpose has always been worthy of the highest manhood. In his house he was always the soul of geniality and good heart. It was always summer in that house whatever the Maine winter might be without. And not only his rich neighbors and kinsmen welcomed him home, but a long line of the poor hailed the return of that family as a special providence. In the church he is honored and beloved. The good old New England custom of church-going with all the guests is enforced strictly in the Blaine household. Whoever is under his roof, from the president down, is expected to be with the family at church. Fair weather or foul, those pews are always well filled. Not only his presence on Sabbath, but its influence, his wise counsels, his purse are freely devoted to the interests of the noble old South church of Augusta. The hold which Mr. Blaine has maintained upon the hearts of such great numbers of his countrymen is not sufficiently explained by brilliant gifts or magnetism; the secret lies in his generous, manly, Christian character. Those who have known him best are not surprised that his friends all over the country have been determined that he should receive the highest honor within their gift. It is because they believe in him. The office has sought the man, the political papers to the contrary notwithstanding. I have absolute knowledge that in 1880 he did not lift a finger to influence the convention. He was quietly at home devoting himself to his business affairs and steadfastly refused even the entreaties of his own family to interest himself in behalf of the nomination. I, for one, shall put my conscience into my vote next November."

Scholarship and Vanity.

Chambers' Journal.

It would fail us to repeat all the anecdotes that might be told of the vanity of scholars. Richard Bentley, whom Macaulay calls the greatest scholar that has appeared in Europe since the revival of learning, always spoke, wrote and acted as if he considered a great scholar the greatest of men. In the preface to his edition of Horace, he describes at some length the characteristics of the ideal critic, and pretty plainly indicates that he regarded himself as that model individual. In scholarship, Samuel Parr was inferior to Bentley, his vanity was at least equally colossal. "Shepherd," he once said to one of his friends, "it is a great scholar's [illegible]; I am the only one now remaining of that race of men." "No man's horse carries more Latin than mine," he one day observed to an acquaintance with whom he was out riding. In signal contrast to the opinions these two worthies entertained of themselves was the verdict which Porson, the greatest Greek scholar England has seen, passed on himself. Being once asked why he had produced so little original matter, he replied: "I doubt if I could produce any original work which could command the attention of posterity. I can only be known by my notes; and I am quite satisfied if, three hundred years hence, it shall be said that one Porson lived toward the close of the eighteenth century who did a good deal for the text of Euripides."

Guests Sent away Hungry.

Baltimore Sun.

A government official just returned from Florida tells a good story at the expense of Jay Gould. When Mr. Gould was lying off Fernandina a party of gentlemen, including several of the English noblemen traveling in Florida this season, received an invitation from him to pay a visit of inspection to his vessel. They were received by Mr. Gould with much politeness and shown all over the yacht by him in person. The whole party were quite profuse in complimenting the yacht and its appointments, and all were in high spirits, expecting of course that when the inspection was concluded a collation would be spread. But nothing was said about lunch, and they were not even invited to take a glass of wine or a thimbleful of old rye, although lingering to the last moment. The party finally left in disgust, and one of the British lords was in such high dudgeon that he went off without saying good-bye to the Wall street king, and afterward remarked that he "was no gentleman to act in such a manner." He said if the owner of a yacht in Great Britain should treat guests in that style he would be "cut" in all good society.

CITY.

Boys' Dynamo.—A crowd of boys were at the corner of Main and Sixth streets yesterday, playing marbles and cutting up generally, when they espied an ice cream wagon slowly coming up Sixth street which caused more excitement among them than the coming of Cole's circus. It was a queer vehicle; the shaft was missing, the family horse occupied its place, while the horse which appeared to annoy him exceedingly seemed to want to screw around and take instruction in his blind eye and getting up on the sidewalk. Oh that horse! He had a great many prominent ribs—in fact, a little too many—they seemed to protrude through the skin. He gazed long and wistfully first at the ice cream then at one another. They seemed to say, "Say fellows," exclaimed the smallest youngster of eight summers, "I've got a scheme here." They all instantly gathered around him and held a whispered conversation. "That's right," said one. "Big head!" said another. "Let's go," tooted the bare-footed boy. "Billy now's your chance." Billy seemed to think so, too, for he drew his arm back and threw an ancient piece of fruit at the unsuspecting vendor who was at the point of yelling "I scream." His wrath must have been aroused, for he put off and away up Main street after the boy. All the boys remained very quiet and still until he was half a block off, and then made a dash for the wagon. One snatched the horse and started up Sixth street while the others followed behind. Of all the crow feasts in this city this one surely trotted off all others. They grabbed right and left, spoons and dishes, but snatched ice cream in one hand and ice cream in the other; the rest looked as if a poultice had been applied, mouths, nose and eyes up to a level with the ice cream. They drove into a vacant lot then all the boys began to use their legs with one exception. The lad was trying to investigate the inside of a covered milk can; the lid of which was forced with the top of his head. He lay down and let his stomach rest on the ground, and stooping down took a drink of the contents, some one or other, and rather suddenly threw himself back, bringing the milk can with him, emptying the contents all over himself from head to foot with a splash. He had enough probably he had had milk from the sucking bottle. In two minutes there was not a boy to be seen within a block.

Camp Meeting at Clear Lake.—The extensive preparations that have been going on for two weeks at the bluff overlooking the O & C depot at East Portland are at last completed and a large camp meeting is now in session at that place. A large pavilion (61 x 96 feet) in the center is surrounded by a circle of forty eight tents for families and a large number of cotton houses now in course of construction. Prominent speakers from various parts of the United States are present. The first service of the series was conducted Thursday evening by Elder E J Waggoner editor of the Signs of the Times, of Oakland, California. His discourse was based upon Rom 13 11 and was listened to with marked interest by those in attendance. The distinctive feature of his discourse was the doctrine of Christ—the prominent theme being an exhortation to his hearers to prepare for his coming. The discourse was made quite interesting and attractive by the use of appropriate charts and diagrams. Yesterday morning at 5 o'clock the congregation assembled and soon came together in the pavilion for the morning prayer and social meeting. At 9 o'clock the conference convened for its annual session. Twenty or more delegates responded to the roll call, who represent nearly as many parts of the field. After the appointment of the regular committees the meeting adjourned. At 10 30 o'clock preaching service was conducted by Elder J N Loughborough lately from California now president of the Upper Columbia conference, which embraces eastern Oregon and Washington and Idaho territories. The subject of his discourse was "Man's condition by nature compared with the work wrought for him by Christ." It was a novel method of teaching the Scripture. The chairman of the meeting asks a question and calls for a text bearing upon it. The person whose name is called responds by reading he scripture. No comment is made except to call attention to the main point in the text. The afternoon service was a bible reading on the second advent conducted by Elder J O

R. MILLER,

Arrival of Excursionists.—By yesterday's steamer there arrived in this city the largest number of eastern people who have ever yet visited Oregon in any one party. The company is known as the Raymond excursion party and they started from Boston May 1st for a trip which is to last seventy three days. There are about sixty persons in the party, under the guidance of Luther L. Holden of Boston and O H Bagley of St Johnsbury Vermont. In coming westward they have visited the Hoosac tunnel, Niagara Falls, the Colorado Wonderland, gone through New Mexico and over the Southern Pacific to California, remaining a week at Los Angeles, seeing the grandeur of the Yosemite valley, sojourning five days at Monterey and finally making the ocean voyage to Oregon. The party took quarters at the Merchants hotel last evening, and their names may all be found in the list published on the fourth page this morning. Prominent among the visitors in the eyes of Portlanders are Mr Sidney Turner and wife of Norwich Conn and Mrs Mary S Curtis an aunt of General Miles who is accompanied by Miss R W Hyde. Mr Turner has long had business interests on the Pacific coast, as he is president of the Norwich Lock manufacturing company and also of the Turner Day & Woolworth manufacturing company of Louisville Ky. He has been in the city several days business engagements having called him here in advance of the remainder of the party. The excursionists remain in this city until Monday morning when they start for the Sound. On their return they will make a trip up the Willamette valley to Salem. Returning again July 1 they go up the Columbia by steamer taking the cars at Bonneville and going home via Salt Lake City. During this excursion the party will travel 10,198 miles and will visit thirteen states and seven territories and the provinces of Ontario and British Columbia. They have seen the heights and depths of the country too. When at Cumbres New Mexico they were 10,015 feet above the level of the sea and at Dinks Springs Arizona 263 feet below the sea level. The tickets for the entire trip above described, including all transfers of baggage, hotel and restaurant bills are $6 0. The tickets are a marvel of neatness and compactness, no long coupon tickets but a neat morocco book about 3x1½ inches elegantly bound in morocco and made especially for the tourist. Their excursion thus far has been a most delightful one without any accident to mar their happiness.

Zither Concert.—The members of the Portland Zither Club gave an invitation concert last evening in their hall at 61 First street to their friends and members of the German Aid Society. Miss Clara Valentin, O G Beneckuntz, John Hashlen, Albert I Kashler, Emil de Neu, Frank Schuck, L tis Sechiem, Eugene Protzman and A Rasmussen. The full membership with the exception of Robert Blaske were in attendance and presented an excellent programme. Miss Valentin's song "Illuminiscences of Fiberfeld" was excellently given and was greeted with an encore to which she responded with "The Mocking Bird" with variations. Mr Le Neuf gave a German selection which was well received. All the numbers given by the club were heartily applauded and showed good taste in their selection and were nicely rendered. At the conclusion of the first part Mr Angerstein first officer of the Oregon sang "A Warrior bold" and is to be congratulated on having a good, well modulated baritone voice. He responded to an encore with "I Wish I was a Child again." As this concert was given only for the enjoyment of the members of the Zither Club and their friends it is to be hoped that it will be repeated at no late day for the benefit of the public.

Assignments for the Benefit of Creditors.—W P Cameron & Co of East Portland, dealers in general merchandise have failed and yesterday made an assignment for the benefit of their creditors to R C Henty. Their estimated assets including the stock and fixtures of the store owned by them at Alkali, Wasco county Oregon are $12,246 and their liabilities foot up to $15,100 90. The greater number of their creditors comprise a dozen or more San Francisco firms. Their creditors in Portland and East Portland are as follows: Joseph Burkhard $400, Edward Shannon $1815, Hecht Bros $63 70, Mooney & Valentine $413 82, Neustadter Bros $387 71, Gutta Percha and Rubber Manufacturing Company $951 36, Murphy Grant & Co $1376 63, Waite Bros $18. The assignee has taken possession of the store in East Portland and for the present it will be kept open. Another assignment was also made yesterday—that of Mary E. Watkinds proprietor of the Front street harness shop.

Police Court.—The dock at the police court had but few occupants yesterday. James Carrick, a chronic drunk, was sent below for twenty days. Johnny Mooney, charged with stealing a child's wagon from Charles Cardinell, had nothing to say. Judge Moreland said he disliked to send him to jail but there was no other place to send him to, and after an experience of two years he had found that there was no other way of keeping the prisoner out of mischief. Mooney was sent up for thirty days. An Wah who borrowed a diamond ring and did not return it failed to appear. His case was continued and a bench warrant issued. The case of Glasive accused of larceny is still under consideration. The case of C Pater accused of selling liquor without a license was continued. John Cowen was tried on a charge of refusing to move on when ordered by a policeman. The case was taken under advisement.

Arraigned Upon Two Indictments.—O C Perry, the bogus sewing machine agent who used that business as an excuse to enter houses where he might ply his real vocation of a sneak thief and who was indicted by the grand jury for the larceny of a gold ring which one young lady missed just after he had left her home, was arraigned yesterday before Judge Smith in the state circuit court and given until this morning to plead. Later in the day the grand jury found another indictment against Perry for a similar offense and he was again arraigned with the same result. In his confinement in the county jail Perry is very reticent and does not mingle at all with his fellow prisoners. He stoutly asserts his innocence and claims that he is the victim of some great unexplained mistake. His trial will probably come off the first of next week.

Badge Presented to General Morrow.—The Garfield post G A R went to Vancouver last evening to pay their respects to General Morrow. They were received by the Ellsworth post of that place and escorted to the hall where General Kapus in behalf of the Garfield post, presented General Morrow with a department commander's badge with the coat of arms of Washington territory carved on a solid gold shield attached. The visit and the presentation took General Morrow completely by surprise but he responded to the cordial expression of respect and good will made by General Kapus in an eloquent speech. After the presentation a supper was served by the Ellsworth post. Songs and speeches followed until a late hour of which a fuller report is promised for to-morrow's issue of The Oregonian.

Inquiry for Missing Ones.—Chief of Police Parrish has received a letter from Hanover Germany making inquiries concerning one Charles Stellman, a sailor who left his ship and stayed here in 1879 or 1880. He was last heard from at Astoria in 1882, where he had been engaged in fishing. His parents are well to-do and very anxious about their son, and are not able to shut out the possibility that he has chased the ... It is much to be feared that Stellman has perished in the breakers at the bar of the Columbia. Chief Parrish has also received a letter from Chief Crowley of San Francisco making inquiries concerning Mrs Ann Mills who lived here about two years ago and followed the occupation of nurse. Any one knowing the whereabouts of either of these parties will please communicate with Chief Parrish.

Murray's Last Chance for Life.—John W Murray, convicted of the murder of his brother in law Alfred Yenke and once sentenced to be hanged, is now anxiously awaiting the decision of the supreme court upon the appeal which he has made for a new trial. There will be quite a delay in the matter as the supreme court is not now in session and owing to a large amount of other business which will take precedence the case cannot come up at the beginning of the term. The making out of the transcript of all the testimony objections etc is no small task and county clerk Sewall has as yet been unable to finish it. Yesterday in the state circuit court Judge Smith issued an order allowing the clerk ten days further time to finish and transmit the transcript to the supreme court.

Good Riddance.—The gang of bunko men who have been operating here for several days has left for fresh fields. They were ordered to leave by Chief of Police Parrish and stayed not on the order of their going but went. The joint on First street was stripped of the snide jewelry and cheap chromos and vacated, and it is to be hoped we shall see them no more. One of the gang who claimed that his wife was sick had an extension of time granted him with orders to report at the police office every day. Part of the gang left for the Sound and others for The Dalles. They are young men who leave their mark wherever they go and news of their doings may be looked for soon.

Prolific Cherry Tree.—T F Burns of Hamilton's Landing, Clarke county W T, writes to The Oregonian that he thinks he has the largest and most productive cherry tree in the United States. It is of the Black Tartarian variety and measures twenty two inches in diameter at the base. It has this year produced about 1,100 pounds of fruit. The Oregonian force can bear testimony to the luscious ness of the cherries a large box of which accompanied the letter. It will now be in order for the owners of other big cherry trees to come to the front and Mr Burns need not be surprised if his record is beaten for the man who tells the first story stands no show in Oregon.

Drop Letters Require a Two-cent Stamp.—Letter carriers complain that many persons are in the habit of mailing letters for parties residing in the city with a one-cent stamp on them. All should know that the postage on drop letters is two cents. A few days since one carrier found over 100 letters mailed by the same person each with a one-cent stamp affixed. This was evidently done in cold blood with a view of saving the other cent on each letter, as such letters are not sent to the dead letter office, and the carrier is obliged to collect the odd cent from the party receiving the letter, which is a very tiresome job.

Howard Still on Trial.—The third day of the trial of the case of the State of Oregon vs P A Howard did not reach any definite result. The prisoner himself took the stand to prove that he was hired by his wife to run her hotel. He was subjected to a rigid cross examination which elicited very little. In reply to a question as to what became of the money he said "I do not know but I have my suspicions." The prosecuting attorney laughingly remarked that he had his suspicions also. When court adjourned at 5 o'clock the testimony was all in and the argument to the jury was begun.

The Fourth at Medford.—The glorious Fourth will be celebrated by the citizens of Rogue River valley and vicinity by a grand barbecue and basket dinner at Medford. Music for the occasion will be furnished by the Ashland brass band and games of various kinds will form a feature of the exercises. Arrangements have been made with the Oregon and California Railroad Company to carry passengers from Woodville, Gold Hill, Phoenix and Ashland to the celebration at reduced rates. The exercises of the day will close with a grand ball in Byars & Co's hall and a supper at the Empire hotel.

Two Horse Thieves Going to Salem.—George Young and Ira Shackelford, two horse thieves from Umatilla county, were brought to this city yesterday by Deputy Sheriff J B Eddy, of Pendleton, en route to the penitentiary at Salem. Young pleaded guilty when arrested, and was sent up for 18 months. Shackelford stood his trial and was sentenced to three years imprisonment. Both prisoners were lodged last night in the city jail, and will be taken to Salem this morning.

THE OPERA OF DON PASQUALE.

Donizetti's sparkling opera "Don Pasquale" was rendered last night at the New Market theater for the first time in Portland by the De Vivo Italian Opera company. It was received by a very large and brilliant audience who testified their appreciation of the performance by hearty and discriminating applause. The cast embraced Signor Villani as Dr Malatesta, Signor Bologna as Don Pasquale, Signor Baldanza as Ernesto and Madame Godini as Norina. Malatesta was very well sung and brilliantly acted. Signor Villani's voice was capable of meeting every demand upon it. His Romanza "Bella Siccome un Angel" was finely sung and much applauded. Signor Bologna, with his mellow and powerful basso voice, sang and acted the part of the old bachelor Don Pasquale. Signor Baldanza was at his best with his magnificent tenor and electrified the audience with the ballad of the Rigoletto which was introduced in the opera by special request. He sang and acted the part of a lover finely, his "Com' è gentil" splendidly, and his serenade in the fourth act "Com' è gentil" was loudly applauded. Madame Godini surprised us with her spirited acting. She was a charming Norina and sang with taste and expression. Her voice, a light soprano, just fits the style of Donizetti's and Rossini's music. The gems of the opera were the duet of Norina and Don Pasquale, the duet of Malatesta and Don Pasquale, the grand quartet after the mock marriage, the serenade of Ernesto and the final duet of Norina and Ernesto. Madame Villani contributed two solos, "I Love You" by Pinsuti, which was rapturously redemanded, and the flower song from Faust. A word of praise must be given to Madame Bologna and Miss Wadsworth for their good accompaniments.

The two last performances by this fine company will be given this afternoon and evening. At the matinee will be given the grand scene of the Gipsy and the duet with Maurice in the second act of Il Trovatore, the jewel song and duet of Faust, the Aria of Figaro of the Barber of Seville and the duet of Crispino e la Comare.

To-night will be repeated by request the opera of Don Pasquale and Madame Villani will contribute a solo between the acts.

PARTING WITH REGRET

The reception tendered to General Morrow and the officers and men of the Second Infantry on Wednesday evening by the citizens of Vancouver was a most pleasant affair. The general had kindly afforded the citizens an opportunity to hear an open air concert by his magnificent band, and improving the opportunity a committee was appointed to draft suitable resolutions expressive of regret at the necessity of parting and of the great esteem in which the regiment was held.

Generals Miles and Morrow and Lieutenant Ebstein made some excellent remarks which were listened to with great attention and loudly applauded. On behalf of the citizens of Vancouver Mayor Smith addressed the regiment followed in a few remarks by Hon W H Bloomfield after which cheers were proposed for the department commander Gen Morrow, the officers and men of the 21st and for the band. About 10 o'clock the crowd commenced to disperse and a general handshaking was indulged in. The occasion will long be remembered and we feel assured that the officers and men will carry with them to their new field of duty kindly feelings towards the citizens of Vancouver and the best wishes of that community for their welfare.

STATE UNIVERSITY

Exercises of the Graduating Class—A Well Rendered Programme—Presentation of Diplomas—Regents' Meeting, Etc.

EUGENE June 20

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

Yesterday the exercises of the graduating class were held in the assembly room of the college building before a large and happy audience—there being over 800 persons present in the forenoon and over 1000 in the afternoon.

The exercises consisted of two essays and a valedictory and ten orations interspersed with vocal and instrumental music as per the following programme:

Song, "I am King o'er the Land and the Sea"—Choral Society.
Prayer by Rev Octavious Parker.
Music, "Printemps de Amour Mazurka"—Miss Ada Page.
Essay, "The Study of the English"—Miss Emma A Bean.
Oration, "The Drama of Human Progress"—B J Brekman.
Oration, "Respice Finem"—William W Cardwell.
Oration, "The Nationalization of Land"—Robert C Here.
Violin Solo with Piano Accompaniment, "Poet and Peasant"—Mr R Pringle and Miss Mary Test.
Oration, "The Laborer—a Social Study"—Walter T Jakins.
Oration, "The Influence of Climate on Civilization"—John D Fenton.
Oration, "The Spirit of Reform"—George W Hill.
Song, "When the Swallows Come Again"—Miss Nettie McCornack.

AFTERNOON

Song, "Golden Years are Passing By"—Choral society.
Oration, "The Force of Personality"—James M Neville.
Oration, "Superstition and Law"—Caspar W Sharples.
Oration, "Enthusiasm"—William C Taylor.
Music, "Sol tu le"—Miss Celia Goldsmith.
Oration, "The Esthetic Element in American Civilization"—Joseph R Whitney.
Essay and valedictory, "The Mercenary Element in National Character"—Miss Hetty F Shaw.
"As Down in the Sunless Retreats"—Choral society.
Conferring degrees.
Song, "Di Margherita"—Miss Mary Test.

The orators all did fairly well and Messrs Beekman, Collier and Taylor (I mention them in the order in which they spoke) certainly did more than well—they distinguished themselves. The essay of Miss Bean was rather a fierce attack upon the study of Latin and Greek and a hearty commendation of that of English. Miss Shaw dissected the mercenary element of our national character with a skillful hand and closed with a touching farewell to her school mates and classmates and the faculty.

The diplomas were then presented by President Johnson with a few earnest remarks that showed how near to his heart these young souls had grown, that he was about to launch on the world, and closed with the hope that they would ever exemplify in their lives the unselfish motto that they had adopted for their graduation—"Non Nobis Solum." The regents held their annual meeting during the day and night and transacted harmoniously considerable business. Prof Hawthorne of the Agricultural college at Corvallis and a graduate of Randolph Macon college, Virginia, was elected to the chair of English literature and ethics in place of Prof Lambert resigned, and Mr Benj B Beekman one of the present graduates was elected tutor.

A school of law was established at Portland and Prof Richard H Thornton of Williamette University was elected professor of the same with authority to procure such aid as he might desire.

This has been a very pleasant and prosperous year for the university and the throb of its pulse is beginning to be felt all over the state. D

Lieut C A Williams, R Q M Twenty-first Infantry, with a detachment of eight men, left on Monday by rail for Sidney, Nebraska, to take charge of the post previous to the arrival of his regiment. Lieut Williams was accompanied by his family as well as Mrs Lieut Bomestel and child and Mrs Lieut Kerran, to all of whom we extend our best wishes for prosperity in their new home.

The mayor, common council and citizens of Vancouver have adopted the following resolutions complimentary to the officers and soldiers of the Twenty first infantry who are about to leave for their new station in Nebraska:

Resolved, By the citizens of Vancouver, that they deeply regret the necessity which causes its removal from this place, thereby taking from our midst the familiar faces of the officers and their families and the other members of the command, with whom the relations of our citizens have been most cordial and pleasant; and be it

Resolved, That our best wishes attend them in their new field of duty and that we heartily commend them to the people of the country to which they go as in every way worthy of confidence and esteem.

DOINGS OF A FEW PROHIBITIONISTS.

The state prohibition home protection convention met in the court house at Corvallis June 19. Green B Smith presiding, J E Houston and L A Harding secretaries. Resolutions denouncing the whisky traffic and its inevitable evils were passed. Licensing the traffic was declared morally wrong and all who declared for this independent action signed a declaration severing all connection with the republican and democratic parties, because both favor license and do not put a prohibition plank in their national platforms. The Home Guard having pronounced for the third party was endorsed. Major Bruce and L F Wright declining nomination as presidential electors, Samuel Culver, F W Owen, G W Dimick and J G Maddock were nominated and the latter three elected. The national convention meets at Pittsburg Pa July 23. A state central committee of one from each county was appointed and after congratulatory speeches the meeting adjourned with three cheers for the party.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST.

Washington Territory

Vancouver will have no Fourth of July celebration this year.

There will be a reunion of the Washington territory Pioneer association at Olympia on July 3.

The mountains in the upper part of Kittitas county are alive with prospectors in search of quartz mines.

Hon W H Bloomfield of Vancouver has accepted an invitation to deliver an oration on the Fourth of July at Oregon City.

The grand jury for Columbia county have found two true bills. The court will probably adjourn this week as there is but little business on hand.

Coal has been discovered on the Secrist and Stegert places in Clarke county below Vancouver and some prospecting will be justified, it is thought by good judges.

Parties owning vacant houses in Walla Walla complain bitterly against young hoodlums who congregate on the streets at night for the purpose of breaking windows.

A Klickitat exchange says: The crop prospects are not so good as might be desired but Klickitat crops sometimes turn out surprisingly well for the promise a few weeks before harvest.

Berry Evans of Marengo, who was charged with burning his barn some time last fall, had his trial in Dayton yesterday and the jury after being out a short time returned a verdict of not guilty.

Thursday afternoon and night Walla Walla and vicinity was visited by a fine rain storm. The rain came down in a perfect torrent while the lightning illuminated the city in fine shape.

Vancouver Register: Miss Ella Stoughton, who left this city about three years ago for a sea voyage in the ship Herbert Black, Captain Frost, returned last week and is greeted by many friends.

Dayton Chronicle: At M V Weller's rancho near Wautsburg springs a man whose name could not be learned was killed by a falling bucket last Monday. The well was about seventy feet deep and the bucket full of dirt fell nearly the entire distance, crushing the unfortunate man beneath its weight.

Judge Wingard complimented the Columbia county grand jury very highly when they were discharged upon the prompt and efficient manner in which they had discharged their duties, saving the county expense and the court trouble. They were in session but two days and found only two true bills.

A force of twenty men are employed finishing the last few miles of grade over the Snoqualmie Pass road from Ellensburg to the Sound. Wagons can go within a few miles of the summit on either side where passengers can be transferred on horseback. Last week George F Smith drove 100 beef cattle over the route to Seattle.

Goldendale Sentinel: Orders have been issued to begin the erection of the Catholic church on their four lots in the extreme western edge of town. It is to be 28x31 feet with a 12x16 foot wing. The Seventh Day Adventists have secured immediately south of the residence of Dr Lee four lots upon which they propose to build a house of worship as soon as they can get around to it.

Western Oregon

Corvallis Gazette: The ravages of the destroying cut worm is reported from different portions of the state as doing much damage to late sown grain and gardens. Benton county seems to be favored in this respect since no reports of this nature have reached us.

A little boy about 10 years old, son of Mr Alexander, who lives between Independence and Buena Vista, was thrown from a horse on Saturday, striking his head against a root and nearly fracturing his skull. He has been unconscious most of the time since.

Wardle, who was shot by Farris near McMinnville, is still alive but his recovery is nearly impossible. The ball passed through the right lung ranging downward and was taken out near the spine in the small of the back. He is quite old and had many physical misfortunes before.

Oregon City Enterprise: Four black bears were killed last week at Eagle creek. That section of the country seems to be overrun by them and the large gray mountain wolf. The experience of every year proves that the state should pay a bounty for the scalp of every animal that is destructive to live stock. Let our representatives in the legislature see to this.

Dr Parker of Clackamas county held an inquest last Sunday upon the body of a man found on the bank of the Molalla river about 300 yards from the Ramsby bridge. The jury brought in a verdict that his name was Charles Steffen, age about 40, and that he died from natural causes on or about June 1, 1884, near Molalla, Clackamas county, Oregon. Near him were found a roll of blankets and two canvas sacks containing clothing. Upon his person was a pocket book containing $4 5 and a German silver watch with the works in good running order. Also a certificate of naturalization dated Oregon City, 18 , given while Robert Caufield was clerk. The remains were badly decomposed and were ordered by the coroner to be encased in a box and buried on the spot.

Eastern Oregon

Work on the Oregon Short Line bridge across Snake river is progressing as rapidly as high water will permit. The distance from the bridge to Huntington, the intended point of junction with the O R & N, is about four and a half miles. The track will follow along Burnt river which will be crossed four times. These smaller bridges are now in process of construction.

The Newark Daily Advertiser credits the Trenton Times with the rather incongruous remark that "New Jersey's interest in the pottery industry is so great that she needs to watch carefully steps taken in foreign countries for the promotion of that industry and to see that whatever of good is originated in other localities is adopted here. The course of the English government in regard to the establishment of schools of decorative art for the training of pottery decorators merits the serious attention of potters here."

FIRE COMPANY MEETING

A special meeting of Pioneer Engine Company No 1 last evening, the following business was transacted:

Chief Engineer Jordan of the Portland fire department was tendered a vote of thanks for the assistance rendered by him at the recent fire in East Portland.

Non resident members were expelled from the company.

A notice was ordered published requesting citizens to clean the streets and decorate for the Fourth of July celebration.

Routine business occupied the balance of the session.

CELEBRATION COMMITTEE MEETING

The Fourth of July committee held a brief session last evening.

Communications were read from several organizations accepting invitations to participate in the procession.

It was decided that no beer or liquor be sold or allowed on the grounds on the day of celebration.

Sub committees reported progress showing that everything possible was being done to contribute to the success of the celebration.

The committee request all organizations wishing to take part in the procession to notify the marshal of the day to that effect not later than July 1.

DECORATE

It would behoove citizens to take early steps to decorate the city in a becoming manner for the forthcoming celebration. A very large crowd is assured and the city should present as grand a festal appearance as possible. If practicable a uniform style of decoration would be preferable and by a combined effort this could be accomplished with probably less expense to individuals.

KU KLUX KALICO RODANS

Captain Sticker calls a meeting of this company for 8 o'clock sharp this evening at the engine house of the Pilchers, to arrange preliminaries for parading on the Fourth. Recruits will be admitted at this meeting and all patriotic young men, provided they be of good moral character, are urged to avail themselves of this opportunity to distinguish themselves.

EXCURSION AND PICNIC

NOTES

The excursion of the Congregational Sunday school to Multnomah Falls occurs to-day.

An evening paper is to be started in East Portland on the 1st of July by Knott & Jones.

The members of the city council and all officers of the city have been served with summonses in the suit of W J White for $10,000 damages for injuries received through his falling off the L street bridge through their alleged neglect. The usual ten days is given for answer.

ARRIVAL OF EXCURSIONISTS.—By yesterday's steamer there arrived in this city the largest number of eastern people who have ever yet visited Oregon in any one party. The company is known as the Raymond excursion party, and they started from Boston May 1st for a trip which is to last seventy-three days. There are about sixty persons in the party, under the guidance of Luther L. Holden of Boston and O. H. Bagley of St. Johnsbury, Vermont. In coming westward they have visited the Hoosac tunnel, Niagara Falls, the Colorado Wonderland; gone through New Mexico and over the Southern Pacific to California; remaining a week at Los Angeles, seeing the grandeur of the Yosemite valley, sojourning five days at Monterey, and finally making the ocean voyage to Oregon. The party took quarters at the Merchants' hotel last evening, and their names may all be found in the list published on the fourth page this morning. Prominent among the visitors in the eyes of Portlanders are Mr. Sidney Turner and wife of Norwich, Conn., and Mrs. Mary S. Curtis, an aunt of General Miles, who is accompanied by Miss R. W. Hyde. Mr. Turner has long had business interests on the Pacific coast, as he is president of the Norwich lock manufacturing company, and also of the Turner, Day & Woolworth manufacturing company, of Louisville, Ky. He has been in the city several days, business engagements having called him here in advance of the remainder of the party. The excursionists remain in this city until Monday morning, when they start for the Sound. On their return they will make a trip up the Willamette valley to Salem. Returning again July 1 they go up the Columbia by steamer, taking the cars at Bonneville and going home via Salt Lake City. During this excursion the party will travel 10,148 miles and will visit thirteen states and seven territories, and the provinces of Ontario and British Columbia. They have seen the hights and depths of the country, too. When at Cumbres, New Mexico, they were 10,015 feet above the level of the sea, and at Fisks' Springs, Arizona, 263 feet below the sea level. The tickets for the entire trip above described, including all transfers of baggage, hotel and restaurant bills, are $650. The tickets are a marvel of neatness and compactness; no long coupon tickets, but a neat morocco book about 3x1½ inches, elegantly bound in morocco and made especially for the tourist. Their excursion thus far has been a most delightful one, without any accident to mar their happiness.

ZITHER CONCERT.—The members of the Portland Zither Club gave an invitation concert last evening in their hall at 11 First street, to their friends and members of the German Aid Society. Miss Clara Valentin, O. G. Bemschuetz, John Hashlen, Albert L. Kaebler, Emil de Neuf, Frank Schuck, Louis Sechtem, Eugene Protzman and A. Rasmussen. The full membership, with the exception of Robert Blaske, were in attendance, and presented an excellent programme. Miss Valentin's solo, "Reminiscences of Elberfeld," was excellently given, and was greeted with an encore, to which she responded with "The Mocking Bird," with variations. Mr. E. de Neuf gave a German selection which was well received. All the numbers given by the club were heartily applauded and showed good taste in their selection, and were nicely executed. At the conclusion of the first part Mr. Angerstein, first officer of the Oregon, sang "A Warrior bold," and is to be congratulated on having a good, well modulated baritone voice. He responded to an encore with "I Wish I was a Child again." As this concert was given only for the enjoyment of the members of the Zither Club and their friends, it is to be hoped that it will be repeated at no late day for the benefit of the public.

ASSIGNMENTS FOR THE BENEFIT OF CREDITORS.—W. P. Cameron & Co. of East Portland, dealers in general merchandise, have failed, and yesterday made an assignment for the benefit of their creditors to R. C. Sandey. Their estimated assets, including the stock and fixtures of the store owned by them at Alkali, Wasco county, Oregon, are $12,236, and their liabilities foot up to $15,709 90. The greater number of their creditors comprise a dozen or more San Francisco firms. Their creditors in Portland and East Portland are as follows: Joseph Burkhart, $400; Edward Shannon, $1835; Hecht Bros. $63 70; Mooney & Valentine, $413 82; Neustadter Bros., $537 61; Gutta Percha and Rubber Manufacturing Company, $211 26; Murchy, Grant & Co., $1376 83; Walter Bros., $13. The assignee has taken possession of the store in East Portland, and for the present it will be kept open. Another assignment was also made yesterday—that of Mary E. Watkinds, proprietor of the Front street harness shop.

POLICE COURT.—The dock at the police court had but few occupants yesterday. James Carrick, a chronic drunk, was sent below for twenty days. Johnny Mooney, charged with stealing a child's wagon from Charles Cardinell, had "nothing to say." Judge Moreland said he disliked to send him to jail, but there was no other place to send him to, and after an experience of two years he had found that there was no other way of keeping the prisoner out of mischief. Mooney was sent up for thirty days. Ah Wah, who borrowed a diamond ring and did not return it, failed to appear. His case was continued and a bench warrant issued. The case of Glestve, accused of larceny, is still under consideration. The case of C. Peter, accused of selling liquor without a license, was continued. John Cowen was tried on a charge of refusing to move on when ordered by a policeman. The case was taken under advisement.

ARRAIGNED UPON TWO INDICTMENTS.—O. C. Perry, the bogus sewing machine agent who used that business as an excuse to enter houses where he might ply his real vocation of a sneak-thief, and who was indicted by the grand jury for the larceny of a gold ring which one young lady missed just after he had left her home was arraigned yesterday before Judge Smith in the state circuit court and given until this morning to plead. Later in the day the grand jury found another indictment against Perry for a similar offense, and he was again arraigned with the same result. In his confinement in the county jail Perry is very reticent and does not mingle at all with his fellow prisoners. He stoutly asserts his innocence and claims that he is the victim of some great, unexplained mistake. His trial will probably come off the first of next week.

BADGE PRESENTED TO GENERAL MORROW.—The Garfield post, G. A. R., went to Vancouver last evening to pay their respects to General Morrow. They were received by the Ellsworth post of that place and escorted to the hall, where General Kapus, in behalf of the Garfield post, presented General Morrow with a department commander's badge, with the coat of arms of Washington territory, carved on a solid gold shield, attached. The visit and the presentation took General Morrow completely by surprise, but he responded to the cordial expression of respect and good will made by General Kapus in an eloquent speech. After this presentation a supper was served by the Ellsworth post. Songs and speeches followed until a late hour, of which a fuller report is promised for to-morrow's issue of THE OREGONIAN.

INQUIRY FOR MISSING ONES.—Chief of Police Parrish has received a letter from Hanover, Germany, making inquiries concerning one Charles Stellman, a sailor, who left his ship and stayed here in 1878 or 1879. He was last heard from at Astoria in 1882, where he had been engaged in fishing. His parents are well-to-do, and very anxious about their son, and "are not able to shut out the possibility that he has ceased to be." It is much to be feared that Stellman has perished in the breakers at the bar of the Columbia. Chief Parrish has also received a letter from Chief Crowley of San Francisco making inquiries concerning Mrs. Ann Mills, who lived here about two years ago and followed the occupation of nurse. Any one knowing the whereabouts of either of these parties will please communicate with Chief Parrish.

MURRAY'S LAST CHANCE FOR LIFE.—John W. Murray, convicted of the murder of his brother-in-law, Alfred Yenas, and once sentenced to be hanged, is now anxiously awaiting the decision of the supreme court upon the appeal which he has made for a new trial. There will be quite a delay in the matter, as the supreme court is not now in session and owing to a large amount of other business which will take precedence, the case cannot come up at the beginning of the term. The making out of the transcript of all the testimony, objections, etc., is no small task, and county clerk Sewall has as yet been unable to finish it. Yesterday in the state circuit court Judge Smith issued an order allowing the clerk ten days further time to finish and transmit the transcript to the supreme court.

GOOD RIDDANCE.—The gang of bunko men who have been operating here for several days has left for fresh fields. They were ordered to leave by Chief of Police Parrish, and stayed not on the order of their going, but went. The joint on First street was stripped of the snide jewelry and cheap chromos and vacated and it is to be hoped we shall see them no more. One of the gang, who claimed that his wife was sick, had an extension of time granted him, with orders to report at the police office every day. Part of the gang left for the Sound, and others for The Dalles. They are young men who leave their mark wherever they go, and news of their doings may be looked for soon.

PROLIFIC CHERRY TREE.—T. F. Burns of Remington's Landing, Clarke county, W. T., writes to THE OREGONIAN that he thinks he has the largest and most productive cherry tree in the United States. It is of the Black Tartarian variety, and measures twenty-two inches in diameter at the base. It has this year produced about 1,700 pounds of fruit. THE OREGONIAN force can bear testimony to the lusciousness of the cherries, a large box of which accompanied the letter. It will now be in order for the owners of other big cherry trees to come to the front, and Mr. Burns need not be surprised if his record is beaten, for "the man who tells the first story stands no show in Oregon."

DROP LETTERS REQUIRE A TWO-CENT STAMP.—Letter carriers complain that many persons are in the habit of mailing letters for parties residing in the city with a one-cent stamp on them. All should know that the postage on drop letters is two cents. A few days since one carrier found over 100 letters mailed by the same person, each with a one-cent stamp affixed. This was evidently done in cold blood with a view of saving the other cent on each letter, as such letters are not sent to the dead letter office, and the carrier is obliged to collect the odd cent from the party receiving the letter, which is a very tiresome job.

HOWARD STILL ON TRIAL.—The third day of the trial of the case of the State of Oregon vs. F. R. Howard did not reach any definite result. The prisoner himself took the stand to prove that he was hired by his wife to run her hotel. He was subjected to a rigid cross-examination, which elicited very little. In reply to a question as to what became of the money he said: "I do not know, but I have my suspicions." The prosecuting attorney laughingly remarked that he had his suspicions also. When court adjourned at 5 o'clock the testimony was all in and the argument to the jury was begun.

THE FOURTH AT MEDFORD.—The glorious Fourth will be celebrated by the citizens of Rogue River valley and vicinity by a grand barbecue and basket dinner at Medford. Music for the occasion will be furnished by the Ashland brass band, and games of various kinds will form a feature of the exercises. Arrangements have been made with the Oregon and California Railroad Company to carry passengers from Woodville, Gold Hill, Phoenix and Ashland to the celebration at reduced rates. The exercises of the day will close with a grand ball in Byars & Co.'s hall and a supper at the Empire hotel.

TWO HORSE THIEVES GOING TO SALEM.—George Young and Ira Shackelford, two horse thieves from Umatilla county, were brought to this city yesterday by Deputy Sheriff J. B. Eddy, of Pendleton, en route to the penitentiary at Salem. Young pleaded guilty when arrested, and was sent up for 18 months. Shackelford stood his trial, and was sentenced to three years imprisonment. Both prisoners were lodged last night in the city jail, and will be taken to Salem this morning.

THE OPERA OF DON PASQUALE.

Donizetti's sparkling opera "Don Pasquale" was rendered last night at the New Market theater for the first time in Portland by the De Vivo Italian Opera company. It was received by a very large and brilliant audience, who testified their appreciation of the performance by hearty and discriminating applause. The cast embraced Signor Villani as Dr. Malatesta, Signor Bologna as Don Pasquale, Signor Baldanza as Ernesto, and Madame Godini as Norina. Malatesta was very well sung, and brilliantly acted. Signor Villani's voice was capable of meeting every demand upon it. His Romanza "Bella Siccome un Angelo" was finely sung and much applauded. Signor Bologna, with his mellow and powerful basso voice, sung and acted the part of the old bachelor "Don Pasquale." Signor Baldanza was at his best with his magnificent tenor, and electrified the audience with the ballad of the Rigoletto, which was introduced in the opera by special request. He sang and acted the part of a lover of Ernesto splendidly, and his serenade in the fourth act "Come e Gentile," was loudly applauded. Madame Godini surprised us with her spirited acting. She was a charming Norina, and sang with taste and expression. Her voice, a light soprano, just fits the style of Donizetti's and Rossini's music. The gems of the opera were the duet of Norina and Don Pasquale, the duet of Malatesta and Don Pasquale. The grand quartet, after the mock marriage, the serenade of Ernesto, and the final duet of Norina, and Ernesto. Madame Villani contributed two solos, "I Love You," by Pergola, which was rapturously redemanded and the Flower song from Faust. A word of praise must be given to Madame Bologna and Miss Wadsworth for their good accompaniments.

The two last performances by this fine company will be given this afternoon and evening. At the matinee will be given the grand scene of the Gipsy and the duet with Manrico in the second act of Il Trovatore, the Jewel song and duet of Faust, the Aria of Figaro of the Barber of Seville and the duet of Crispino e la Comare.

To-night will be repeated by request the opera of Don Pasquale, and Madame Villani will contribute a solo between the acts.

PARTING WITH REGRET.

The reception tendered to General Morrow and the officers and men of the Second infantry on Wednesday evening by the citizens of Vancouver, was a most pleasant affair. The general had kindly afforded the citizens an opportunity to hear an open-air concert by his magnificent band, and improving the opportunity, a committee was appointed to draft suitable resolutions expressive of regret at the necessity of parting, and of the great esteem in which the regiment was held.

Generals Miles and Morrow and Lieutenant Ebstein made some excellent remarks, which were listened to with great attention and loudly applauded. On behalf of the citizens of Vancouver Mayor Smith addressed the regiment, followed in a few remarks by Hon. W. H. Bloomfield, after which cheers were proposed for the department commander, Gen. Morrow, the officers and men of the 21st and for the band. About 9 o'clock the crowd commenced to disperse, and a general handshaking was indulged in.

The occasion will long be remembered, and we feel assured that the officers and men will carry with them to their new field of duty kindly feelings towards the citizens of Vancouver and the best wishes of that community for their welfare.

STATE UNIVERSITY.

Exercises of the Graduating Class—A Well Rendered Programme—Presentation of Diplomas—Regents' Meeting—Etc.

EUGENE, June 20.

To THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Yesterday the exercises of the graduating class were had in the assembly room of the college building before a large and happy audience—there being over 830 persons present in the forenoon and over 1000 in the afternoon.

The exercises consisted of two essays and a valedictory and ten orations, interspersed with vocal and instrumental music, as per the following programme:

Essay and valedictory, "The Mercenary Element in National Character"—Miss Bettie E. Shaw.

Song, "Re Down in the Sunless Retreats"—Choral society.

Conferring degrees.

Song, "Di Margherita"—Miss Mary Test.

The orators all did fairly well; and Messrs. Beekman, Collier and Taylor [I mention them in the order in which they spoke] certainly did more than well—they distinguished themselves. The essay of Miss Bean was rather a fierce attack upon the study of Latin and Greek, and a hearty commendation of that of English. Miss Shaw dissected the "mercenary element of our national character with a skillful hand; and closed with a touching farewell to her school and classmates, and the faculty.

The diplomas were then presented by President Johnson with a few earnest remarks that showed how near to his heart these young souls had grown that he was about to launch on the world, and closed with the hope that they would ever exemplify in their lives the unselfish motto that they had adopted for their graduation—"Non Nobis Solum." The regents held their annual meeting during the day and night, and transacted harmoniously considerable business. Prof. Hawthorne, of the Agricultural college at Corvallis and a graduate of Randolph-Macon college, Virginia, was elected to the chair of English literature and ethics, in place of Prof. Lambert, resigned; and Mr. Benj. B. Beekman, one of the present graduates, was elected tutor.

A school of law was established at Portland and Prof. Richard H. Thornton, of Williamsport, Pa., was elected professor of the same, with authority to procure such aid as he might desire.

This has been a very pleasant and prosperous year for the university, and the throb of its pulse is beginning to be felt all over the state. D.

Lieut. C. A. Williams, R. Q. M. Twenty-first Infantry, with a detachment of eight men, left on Monday by rail for Sidney, Nebraska, to take charge of the fort previous to the arrival of his regiment. Lieut. Williams was accompanied by his family, as well as Mrs. Lieut. Bozesteel and child and Mrs. Lieut. Kernan, to all of whom we extend our best wishes for prosperity in their new home.

The mayor, common council and citizens of Vancouver have adopted the following resolutions complimentary to the officers and soldiers of the Twenty-first infantry, who are about to leave for their new station in Nebraska:

Resolved, By the citizens of Vancouver, that they deeply regret the necessity which causes its removal from this place, thereby taking from our midst the familiar faces of the officers and their families and the other members of the command, with whom the relations of our citizens have been most cordial and pleasant and be it

Resolved, That our best wishes attend them in their new field of duty, and that we heartily commend them to the people of the country to which they go as in every way worthy of confidence and esteem.

DOINGS OF A FEW PROHIBITIONISTS.

The state prohibition home protection convention met in the court house at Corvallis, June 19, Green B. Smith presiding, J. E. Houston and E. X. Harding secretaries. Resolutions denouncing the whisky traffic and its inevitable evils were passed. Licensing the traffic was declared morally wrong, and all who declared for this independent action signed a declaration severing all connection with the republican and democratic parties, because both favor license and do not put a prohibition plank in their national platforms. The Home Guard having pronounced for the third party, was endorsed. Major Bruce and Z. T. Wright declined nomination as presidential electors, Samuel Culver, F. W. Owen, G. W. Dimick and J. G. Maddock were nominated, and the latter three elected. The national convention meets at Pittsburg, Pa., July 23. A state central committee of one from each county was appointed, and after congratulatory speeches the meeting adjourned with three cheers for the party.

A Goldendale exchange says: The crop prospects are not so good as might be desired, but Klickitat crops sometimes turn out surprisingly well for the promise a few weeks before harvest.

Berry Evans of Marengo, who was charged with burning his barn some time last fall, had his trial in Dayton yesterday, and the jury, after being out a short time returned a verdict of not guilty.

Thursday afternoon and night Walla Walla and vicinity was visited by a fine rain storm. The rain came down in a perfect torrent, while the lightning illuminated the city in fine shape.

Vancouver Register: Miss Ella Stoughton who left this city about three years ago for a sea voyage in the ship Herbert Black, Captain Treat, returned last week, and is greeted by many friends.

Dayton Chronicle: At M. V. Weller's ranche near Washtucna springs, a man whose name could not be learned, was killed by a falling bucket last Monday. The well was about seventy feet deep and the bucket full of dirt fell nearly the entire distance, crushing the unfortunate man beneath its weight.

Judge Wingard complimented the Columbia county grand jury very highly when they were discharged upon the prompt and efficient manner in which they had discharged their duties, saving the county expense and the court trouble. They were in session but two days, and found only two true bills.

A force of twenty men are employed finishing the last few miles of grade over the Snoqualmie Pass road from Ellensburg to the Sound. Wagons can go within a few miles of the summit on either side, where passengers can be transferred on horseback. Last week George F. Smith drove 100 beef cattle over the route to Seattle.

Goldendale Gazette: Orders have been issued to begin the erection of the Catholic church on their four lots in the extreme western edge of town. It is to be 24x30 feet with a 12x16 foot wing. The Seventh Day Adventists have secured immediately south of the residence of Dr. Lee, four lots upon which they propose to build a house of worship as soon as they can get around to it.

Western Oregon.

Corvallis Gazette: The ravages of the destroying cut worm is reported from different portions of the state as doing much damage to late sown grain and gardens. Benton county seems to be favored in this respect, since no reports of this nature have reached us.

A little boy about 10 years old, son of Mr. Alexander who lives between Independence and Buena Vista, was thrown from a horse on Saturday, striking his head against a root and nearly fracturing his skull. He has been unconscious most of the time since.

Wardle, who was shot by Farris near McMinnville, is still alive, but his recovery is nearly impossible. The ball passed through the right lung, ranging downward, and was taken out near the spine in the small of the back. He is quite old and had many physical misfortunes before.

Oregon City Enterprise: Four black bears were killed last week at Eagle creek. That section of the country seems to be overrun by them and the large gray mountain wolf. The experience of every year proves that the state should pay a bounty for the scalp of every animal that is destructive to live stock. Let our representatives in the legislature see to this.

Dr. Parker of Clackamas county held an inquest last Sunday upon the body of a man found on the bank of the Molalla river about 800 yards from the Ramsby bridge. The jury brought in a verdict that his name was Charles Staffen, age about 45, and that he died from natural causes on or about June 1, 1884, near Molalla, Clackamas county, Oregon. Near him were found a roll of blankets and two canvas sacks containing clothing. Upon his person was a pocket-book containing $35 35 and a German silver watch with the works in good running order. Also a certificate of naturalization dated Oregon City, 1873, given while Robert Caufield was clerk. The remains were badly decomposed, and were ordered by the coroner to be encased in a box and buried on the spot.

Eastern Oregon.

Work on the Oregon Short Line bridge across Snake river is progressing as rapidly as high water will permit. The distance from the bridge to Huntington, the intended point of junction with the O. R. & N., is about four and a half miles. The track will follow a long Burnt river, which will be crossed four times. These smaller bridges are now in process of construction.

The Newark Daily Advertiser credits the Trenton Times with the rather inconsequent remark that: "New Jersey's interest in the pottery industry is so great that she needs to watch carefully steps taken in foreign countries for the promotion of that industry, and to see that whatever of good is originated in other localities is adopted here. The course of the English government in regard to the establishment of schools of decorative art for the training of pottery decorators merits the serious attention of potters here."

Explained.

Am in receipt daily from the interior of orders to make lawn dresses; also from ladies in Portland. I certainly would be pleased to take orders but owing to the fact that I have all I can possibly attend to in making up silks and worsted goods, having in fact, often more than I can do and not desiring to employ any additional cutters, I therefore must decidedly refuse all lawns and white goods. Respectfully, H. B. LITT.

FIRE COMPANY MEETING.

At a special meeting of Pioneer Engine Company No. 1 last evening, the following business was transacted:

Chief Engineer Jordan of the Portland fire department was tendered a vote of thanks for the assistance rendered by him at the recent fire in East Portland.

Non-resident members were expelled from the company.

A notice was ordered published requesting citizens to clean the streets and decorate for the Fourth of July celebration.

Routine business occupied the balance of the session.

CELEBRATION COMMITTEE MEETING.

The Fourth of July committee held a brief session last evening.

Communications were read from several organizations, accepting invitations to participate in the procession.

It was decided that no beer or liquor be sold or allowed on the grounds on the day of celebration.

Sub committees reported progress, showing that everything possible was being done to contribute to the success of the celebration.

The committee request all organizations wishing to take part in the procession to notify the marshal of the day to that effect not later than July 1.

DECORATE.

It would behoove citizens to take early steps to decorate the city in a becoming manner for the forthcoming celebration. A very large crowd is assured, and the city should present as grand a festal appearance as possible. If practicable, a uniform style of decoration would be preferable, and by a combined effort this could be accomplished with probably less expense to individuals.

HU-HI KALICO RODADS!

SATURDAY MORNING, JUNE 21 1884.

UP THE HIMALAYAS.

Perilous Ascent on a Track but Two Feet Wide.

A MODEL NARROW GAUGE.

Some Risky Curves on the Mountain Side—Remarkable Change of Temperature—Scenes and Incidents

India Cor Inter Ocean.

Eight o'clock in the morning brought our train into Siliguri, and here we embarked in a narrow gauge train that was a narrow gauge with a vengeance—the Darjeeling Himalayan road. The width was two feet. The cars and engine were of almost microscopical proportions. In fact the cars could scarcely be called cars. There was one rude coach with cushioned seats which was labeled "first class," but the rest of the train was made up of half a dozen platform cars with seats facing each other and canvas canopies overhead a baggage van and a mail box on four wheels at the end. This sounds like a pretty respectable train so far as length is concerned, but the reader has yet to take into consideration the fact that each car or trolly was only about four feet wide by seven long—possibly five by eight in its very extreme measurement. Thus our whole train in advance of the engine, could not have been more than fifty feet in length—about as long as a good respectable passenger car in America, I should judge.

There was distinction in quality among the trollies but the conductor or guard sandwiched us according to our tickets so that each grade was by itself. Then commenced such a ride. Our little, but powerful locomotive coughed its way heroically up the steepest inclines at a speed of from seven to nine miles an hour, only slowing up as we rounded the sharpest curves, but the exercise consumed steam, and every few miles we had to stop to take on water, and this operation usually took about twenty minutes. Then there were two half hour stops for meals, I believe. When we were fully under way it seemed as if we were going a mile a minute. This effect was due to the extreme smallness of our wheels at least half of which projected up into the trolly leaving us only about six inches above the rails. Of course the ground seemed to fly under us and the agonizing noise of the locomotive, together with the festive rocking of the cars, called to mind Horace Greeley's memorable stage coach ride.

I thought I had seen considerable narrow gauging in the Rocky mountains, and remembered a trip of about 900 miles on the Denver and Rio Grande railway with pride, but although I ascended to greater heights in Colorado, and by gradients quite as steep the journey was a sober and dignified affair compared with this wild Himalayan experience.

On the Rio Grande road two thirty ton locomotives would handle our train, while we passengers reposed comfortably in our upholstered cars, and we felt that however slender our footing, there was granite under us. Here a single ten ton locomotive struggled and labored with us. We had to hold on to our wooden seats with both hands, and there were scores of ledges on which we moved the material of which was soft and rotten. Cape Horn in California is a pigmy affair unworthy of mention in this connection.

Of course the trip included all sorts of experiences, such as loops, zigzags and all the modern improvements in the way of harrowing and perilous engineering.

For eight or nine miles our course was reasonably straight and reasonably level for we were still on the plains. Then we reached the foot of the mountains and at once began the long, laborious climb. Perhaps you can imagine what can be accomplished by a slender ribbon two feet wide such as our track; but I must doubt it.

After we had reached the first station I left the trolly and went out to examine the locomotive.

"Jump on," said the engineer cordially—a well informed gentleman of some 60 years, I should judge.

In a moment of temporary mental aberration I accepted the invitation. The locomotive was a queer looking affair so small that there were no seats in the cab and I was obliged to compress myself to the dimensions of a case knife and hang on to an iron rod. On the top of the locomotive, which was flat, were some bags of cargo, and the nature of the ride may be hinted at in the statement that the native firemen shifted these bags from side to side as we rounded many of the curves.

"This is not the engine for this sort of work," said the engineer; "this is one of the old ones and really not trustworthy. You see that engine following close behind us in charge of the goods train? Well that is the proper style to have. See the boiler is right over the track behind the cow-catcher being a broad flat, shallow tank. That throws the center of gravity forward and down. Now in the case of this locomotive you can see that the bulk of the weight is too high up. Disturb our balance a little, and over we go."

At this point we rounded a loop that would make the famous one on the Los Angeles road in California blue for very envy.

"The radius of that loop," said the engineer, "is just fifty feet. We have two others, the radius of which is about one chain. Many of the gradients are being constantly eased, the curves enlarged, and the reversing stations modified so that the mutability of the road is is somewhat a by-word."

I can believe that it ought to be. I look upon the road somehow as if it were an elongated hair-snake wriggling and writhing on the mountain sides. After several hours of this perilous railroading the engineer pointed off up a hillside and said:

"Around yonder is the shortest curve in the whole line. It is always giving us trouble, and men are now at work laying out a new route which shall have a little longer radius. The land is such just there that they experience great difficulty. We are now going to mount up to the place by a grade of one in seventeen, a climb which requires all the reserve energy of the engine."

So saying he gave free rein to the saucy little upstart of an iron horse (I scarcely feel justified in dignifying it by the name of locomotive) and soon we were groaning, rocking and puffing our way up the incline. I confess the experience was as exhilarating as any I ever enjoyed, in fact there is a limit to the amount of exhilaration which I am capable of enjoying, and I have a suspicion that we passed that limit. Now we neared the bugbear of a curve referred to and easing his machine as much as he had goaded it before the engineer remarked:

"This curve is the critical point in the whole journey. Engines have jumped the track here a good many times, and we have to run very slow since only three wheels are able to grip the rails at once. Perhaps you think I am drawing a pretty long bow but—"

Just at this juncture we reached the sharpest point in the curve, and the gallant little engine, which had been quivering and struggling in a truly pitiable way reared like a wornout horse poised a moment in the air and then plunged over the curve.

The moment I heard the grating sound I calculated the distance and made a jump to the verge of the embankment. The slow speed at which we were going made the danger more apparent than real, but as I measured the distance of the front wheels from the precipice by means of a walking-stick and found it to be just two feet I concluded that the trolly was good enough for me and politely declined further overtures to ride on that engine. Well we passengers tossed the locomotive back upon the track. Perhaps "tossed" is a little strong in this connection but it was surprising how quick the thing was lifted back to its place. Then we coaxed and pushed till we had got the train safely around the curve and resumed our seats.

As we went higher and higher the atmosphere changed perceptibly, and we had recourse to the overcoats we had brought along. Occasionally a cloud came floating lazily past us and the sun went off somewhere and didn't come back. Presently the clouds were thick about and below us. The air was rare and stinging cold. Now we could see nothing but an ocean of cloud below us and the wind whistled about us as if it gloated over making the contrast with the heat of Calcutta as great as possible.

The Average Height of Mankind.

According to the detailed reports of the anthropometric or man measuring committee of the British association the average height of mankind is 5 feet 5½ inches. The tallest race appears to be the Polynesian, the average height of which is 5 feet 9.33 inches, while the lowest is the Bushman or Bosjesman which averages 4 feet 4⅞ inches—a difference of rather more than 1 foot 4½ inches. The Patagonians come second on the list, while the European races are, as a rule, taller than the Asiatic. The negroes and Zulus are taller than the Semitic population of Africa.

It is not understood why druggists keep in stock so many kinds of medicines for coughs, colds and rheumatism, when it is only necessary to keep All-in's Lung Balsam, first old reliable remedy which is a pure vegetable preparation and perfectly harmless, as it contains no opium in any form. Sold everywhere.

TRADE AND COMMERCE.

FRIDAY, June 20.

Bright weather follows the heavy shower of last evening. Yesterday morning heavy showers fell at points a few miles south of this city but the visitation here was light. The Snake river rose one inch in the past 24 hours. The Columbia and Willamette are still falling.

Overland receipts include 15 cs bacon 10 cts hams 8 cs crackers, 40 bls cotton bagging 220 pkgs tobacco.

PRODUCE RECEIPTS—Past 24 hours: 205 cts wheat, 214 bbls flour 1116 ctls oats 43 sks potatoes 37 795 lbs wool, 1016 lbs hides 71 cs eggs 4 bxs fruit 5 pkgs butter. Also 1064 ctls wheat 390 bbls flour 146 015 lbs wool, 694 lbs hides from the eastern section.

FREIGHTS—The German wooden bark Ins 417 tons arrived in this morning and will be on the market for a grain charter. The market is altogether without new interest.

WHEAT—Beerbohm raises the quotation on Pacific coasts for prompt shipment. Others are unchanged but against sellers. Liverpool spot is lower. The American markets are unsettled and losing strength. The local market is slow and weak at last nominal quotations.

WOOL—Koshland Bros have issued their first circular of the season. They say:

Reports from the various wool markets of the United States uniformly agree in a continuance of dull trade and depressed values. Woolen manufacturers, owing principally to sales of goods at unprofitable prices are buying with extreme caution and only for prompt use. The present low prices of wool seems no inducement to manufacturers and speculators in the present condition of the trade and conservatism and a feeling of distrust and doubt appears general. In such an existing depression any attempt at present to increase operations and force sales would be attended with failure or only effected at considerable concessions on values. It is generally admitted however that stocks of woolen goods are not excessive and we hope, as the season advances and the political features of the country become better known, that an improvement may be expected with the result for greater demand for raw materials. The habit or custom of the past and also a necessity for securing cash advances on wool early in the season have been the main factors in shipping the greater portion of the eastern Oregon clip so far to San Francisco. In that market some of the choice lots have been bought, the great bulk remaining unsold awaiting the pleasure of the few scourers located there. In Portland receipts have been as liberal as could reasonably be expected. A fair proportion has been sold to local mills and for shipment the remainder being promptly graded and baled at our wool depot and reshipped east—our consignors thus having their clips placed immediately in first class condition for selling in the great markets of the country and at a saving of expense equaling about 2 cents per pound in grease less than via San Francisco. The advantages of this are becoming more apparent and receipts here are steadily increasing. Direct shipments east in round bags from points contiguous to the N P R R especially from Whitman and Columbia counties W T have been made and we desire to caution against shipments of this description under the present freight rates. On thorough examination it will be found to cost at least 2½c per lb greater than all charges to Portland—expenses here and landing the wool in good marketable order in any eastern market.

San Francisco advices note sales of eastern Oregon at concessions on last rates received. Choice has sold up to 20 cents but is now commanding not over 19 cents. Receipts here are steadily free and largely go into the two grading houses. To-day over 100 bales were being shipped by rail. We quote valley 12@16c eastern Oregon 13@17c.

POULTRY—Chickens still drag at $5@5 50 for old and $3 for young.

EGGS—Steady at 20 cents for good conditioned.

PROVISIONS—The primary market has gone from bad to worse and a general decline is noted that has not reached this coast although more weakness is apparent. Strong work on the part of the bulling element has alone kept values as they have been. One year ago occurred the great lard panic in Chicago, when July lard fell in one day from $11 3 ½ to $3. This old experience has prevented a considerable deal. Pork is now quite high seemingly too high and the Chicago papers are discussing packing frauds. Our market is upheld by the strength of holders and first cost values so that little if any change is soon looked for. We quote jobbing prices: Bacon 11½@12½c best local hams 16@17c country hams 13@14c shoulders, 8@9½ eastern hams 16@17c shoulders and poor cuts of other meats are in slow sale. A fair quality of lard in tins sells at 1½c and in kegs at 11@12c best local in tins, 15@13½c eastern in small tins 13@13½c.

DRIED FRUITS—Market quiet and unchanged. We quote sun-dried apples 9@10c factory apples in boxes 15@16c eastern in barrels 9½c pears sliced and boxed 10c plums sun dried 13@15c boxed 16c peaches 13@14c Oregon prunes 12 eastern and others 8@8½c figs 9c raisins $1 75@2 00 per full box.

The Merchandise Markets.

In lines not specified below our market is a close follower of the supply markets and we present at est influences. At San Francisco tea is very quiet the trade holding off awaiting free arrivals of new crop. Some has already been received, and a steamer now due has nearly a full cargo mostly in transit. Spices are firm. Nut oil lower. A good business has been done in tin plate but values are unchanged. Sardines are lower. Codfish weak with boneless Pacific off half a cent. The first arrival of new is the schooner Czar with 102 000. This is quoted one cent above old. The incoming of new together with large stocks of old is an unfavorable and depressing influence. Molasses and syrup plentiful and weak as regards Hawaiian.

BAGS AND TWINE—The San Francisco market is enjoying an increased consumptive demand for grain sacks. The stock is being slightly added to by arrivals via Hong Kong. Holders deem the situation a firm one and expect a large and active trade requirement very soon. Locally there is no particular request and few sales are being made ahead. The demand will not come before the middle of July unless the market should indicate an advance. We quote grain bags 7¼@8c cash and July wool bags 40@42½c fleece twine 10c sewing twine 30@35c.

BEANS—Aside from a general weakness at primary supply points, there is nothing new in the situation. Locally the request is slow with stocks steadily held. We quote small whites 3½c bayos 5@5½c butter 3½c.

BREAD ETC.—The request for bread is slow just at this time. In crackers the local bakers supply the bulk of trade by reason of cheapness. They propose to soon have new machinery and strike out for new selling points. The color and fineness of our flour has been against local bakers but this can be overcome as millers improve their machinery. Some Walla Walla flour was tried at St Paul in making crackers and a St Paul baker says he tried a few sacks last winter but found it was not the thing for crackers. It made a good cracker and worked well but the color was objected to by wholesalers and he is satisfied that although cheaper it could never supercede St Louis cracker flour. We quote local values: Ship bread 3½c pilot do 4½c 4½c, soda crackers 5@6c other crackers etc 5@14c. A consolidation of our two largest factories is likely of.

CANNED GOODS—Severe weather in California has hurt cherries and other small fruits yet canners have their hands full with small fruits and are promised all the stone fruits they can handle. Stocks will soon be plentiful and this unfavorably affects present values. We quote corn $1 60 tomatoes $1 30@4 25 pie peaches $ (2 25 table peaches $2 50@2 75 assorted table fruits $2 50 assorted pie fruits 2½s $1 50@1 75 gallons $4 25.

COFFEE—The market is quiet but steady showing nothing of new interest. At San Francisco business is moderate and only of a jobbing character. The New York market has ruled dull up to last week when it presented more tone in consequence of advices from Rio and Havre. New York values were still below a parity with Rio ample offerings precluding an advance. Europe is buying freely at Rio where latest reports are to the effect that the new crop was coming forward sparingly. We quote est Java 20c Costa Rica 11½@13½c Guatemala and Salvador 11½@12½c.

COAL OIL—The Alameda brought 3000 cases from New York and this is the only importation of note for some time. Stocks are plentiful and the request being only seasonable is slow. We quote 17@23c as to brand.

RICE—The local market is necessarily weak yet most holders are firm in their pretensions. Sales in the past week have been less important by reason of a lessened selling pressure. On the whole the market may be said to show more stability in spite of free stocks. At San Francisco late last week Island sold at 4½c for old 60 days and new cash. First hands were out of stock with none due for two weeks. China was dull new mixed being lower. In the local market Island sells at $5 50 and mixed China $4 50@4 75.

SUGARS—The feature of the week is a decline of half a cent in yellows and dry granulated and quarter of a cent in other grades of hard. This is due to generally weak primary markets, but the drop is not yet on a parity with the recent declines at New York, Cuban and other points. At San Francisco latest mail dates note strong and active competition, Hawaiian being in light stock but fair demand grocery grades selling at 5¾c. Cable advices from Europe and West Indies indicate a weak market at each. New York refiners are taking advantage of the position and are replenishing stocks. We quote local values (A patent cube 9½ (A) crushed 9¼c dry granulated 9¼c golden C 8 extra golden C 8¼ extra powdered, 10. The above are for barrels.

SALT—The soon expected arrival of a cargo from Carmen Islands does not appear to influence the market which rules firm throughout. At San Francisco holders are firm, with high values causing small trading. We quote Liverpool 200 s, $17 100 s $20 50 s $2 50. Half ground $9 50@10 50.

HICKLES—Kegs are still quoted at $1 25@1 40, with a fair business doing.

SALMON—A slow market rules, canners and buyers being apart in their views. A quotation would be purely nominal. The movement is fairly free and increasing in all directions and some has gone to Havre and Hamburg via San Francisco and New Orleans. As to the run at present, it may be called fair for the time and probably be fair than generally reported to be. No figures are furnished yet the shortage to date is not unusually great. With a usual July run very nearly last year's figures can be reached. In the week the Woodlark and City of Delhi have arrived to load and the Jessie Jamieson has been steadily receiving. The Ista, Cotesworth and Eskdale cleared with part cargoes and the Aberystwith Castle is nearly completed. Domestic shipments by steamer are light and rail shipments are not up to last week.

SPRING

Is the season in which bad or poisoned blood is most apt to show itself. Nature at this juncture needs something to assist it in throwing off the impurities which have collected in the sluggish circulation of the blood during the cold winter months. Swift's Specific is nature's great helper and is a purely vegetable alterative and tonic.

Rev. I. R. Paine, Macon, Ga., writes: "We have been using Swift's Specific at the orphans' home as a remedy for blood complaints and as a general health tonic, and have had remarkable results from its use on the children and employees of the institution. It is such an excellent tonic and keeps the blood so pure that the system is less liable to disease. It has cured some of the children of scrofula."

W. H. Gilbert, druggist, Albany, Ga., writes: "We are selling large quantities of Swift's Specific for a sure natural tonic and as a general health tonic, and for which [illegible] always [illegible] There are many remarkable evidences [illegible]"

The Great Drug House of Chicago.

We do not hesitate to say that for a year past we have sold more of Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) than all other blood purifiers combined, and with astonishing results. One gentleman who used a half dozen bottles says it did him more good than treatment which cost him $1000. A. [illegible] who has used it for a few [illegible] perfect cure from [illegible] VAN SHAACK, STEVENSON & CO.
